104TH AT&T RED RIVER RIVALRY

GAME: A classic matchup is once again in place as one of the nation's oldest and most-unique rivalries — the Texas/Oklahoma series — is set for its 104th renewal on Saturday, October 17 at the Cotton Bowl (11 a.m./CT/ABC). The rivalry, which pits the two Big 12

Conference foes on a neutral field with the crowd split evenly, is in its fourth year of sponsorship with AT&T and is officially tagged the AT&T Red River Rivalry. This year has No. 3/2 Texas (5-0/2-0 Big 12) meeting No. 20/18 Oklahoma (3-2/1-0 Big 12) in a Big 12 South Division showdown. Both teams enter the game ranked among The Associated Press Top 25 for the 33rd time since the poll began in 1936 with Oklahoma holding a 16-13-3 edge. UT is looking to win its fourth Red River Rivalry in the last five years. The two teams alternate as hosts of the game and the Longhorns are the home team this year. Texas will wear orange jerseys and be seated on the home bench (press box side). The Horns are off to a 5-0 start for the fourth time in the Mack Brown era with two of those teams earning berths in the Big 12 title game (2001 and '05). Prior to Mack Brown's arrival in 1998, Texas failed to open the year with at least five straight wins for 14 consecutive seasons, dating back to 1983. Texas is coming off a 38-14 victory over Colorado, while Oklahoma defeated Baylor, 33-7.

GAMEDAY REGULARS: ESPN College GameDay is set to cover the Longhorns for the second time this season and the 13th time overall when No. 3/2 Texas takes on No. 20/18 Oklahoma in Dallas. This will be the fourth time GameDay has covered a game in this series, including last year's 45-35 Texas victory. That game was the first of three time over a four-week span that Texas was one of the featured teams for GameDay. It marked just the second time in the history of the show that a program had been a part of the featured game three times over a four-week stretch. Ohio State also accomplished that in 2006. GameDay also was present for the 56-31 win over No. 11 Missouri in Austin on Oct. 18 and UT's 39-33 loss to No. 6 Texas Tech in Lubbock on Nov. 1. Overall, Texas is 8-4 with the GameDay crew in attendance. Previously, GameDay has visited Austin six times, Dallas, for the Oklahoma game, three times, on the road at Ohio State (2005) and Texas Tech (2008) and was in attendance for the 2005 BCS National Championship Game.

BIG-TIME RIVALRY: There is no rivalry quite like the Texas/Oklahoma series, which is being played for the 104th time this season. The series, which began in 1900, has been played in Dallas since 1912 and at the Cotton Bowl since 1929. Dallas' Cotton Bowl is located an equal distance from Austin and Norman, Okla. The stadium is split evenly among Longhorn and Sooner fans at the 50-yard line. It is the second-oldest UT series and tied for the 19th most-played rivalry in NCAA history. Only Texas A&M has met Texas on more occasions (114 times). Since 1900, the only years Texas and Oklahoma have not met were 1918, '20, '21 and 1924-28. The series resumed in 1929 at the State Fair of Texas and has remained a fixture since.

THE TEXAS-OU SERIES: Texas and Oklahoma first met in 1900 in Austin with the Longhorns registering a 28-2 victory. Including that meeting, the two teams have met 103 times. Texas holds a 58-40-5 series lead and the Longhorns are the only Big 12 Conference team that holds an all-time series lead against the Sooners. Oklahoma leads the series, 6-4, over the last 10 years, but Texas has the advantage, 11-8-1, over the last 20 years. As for records by decade, the Horns were 7-2-1 against Oklahoma in the 1990s. That comes after the Sooners held a 5-4-1 advantage in the 1980s. The rest of the series records by decade saw UT lead 9-2-1 in the 1900s; OU lead 6-3 in the 1910s; UT lead 3-0 in the 1920s; UT lead 6-3-1 in the 1930s; UT lead 8-2 in the 1940s; OU lead 7-3 in the 1950s; UT lead 9-1 in the 1960s; and OU lead 6-3-1 in the 1970s.

TEXAS VERSUS OU TRENDS: UT has entered the game ranked in the Top Five 25 times and has gone 18-6-1 in those matchups ... at least one of the teams is entering this year's game ranked among the Top 25 for the 11th straight year and for the 61st time (out of 73 possible games since the poll began in 1936) in series history ... since the AP Poll was established in 1936, the higher ranked team coming into the Red River Rivalry is 44-14-3 ... either UT or OU has entered as a Top 10 team on 48 occasions in series history ... Texas has been ranked in the Top 10 in 29 of the 48 games and is 20-8-1 in those contests.

TOP 25 TREND: Both teams enter the game ranked among The Associated Press Top 25 for the 33rd time since the poll began in 1936. Oklahoma holds a 16-13-3 edge. Breaking it down further, UT is 8-2-1 in Top 25 matchups when it enters the game as the higher-ranked team and 5-14-2 when it is the lower-rated team. Texas and OU have met 25 times when both teams were ranked among the Top 15. The Sooners hold a 13-11-1 advantage in those Top 15 matchups. UT is 7-1-1 in Top 15 matchups when it enters the game as the higher ranked team and 4-12 when it is the lower rated team. The Horns and Sooners have met 10 times when both teams were ranked in the Top Five. Texas has been the lower ranked team in nine of the 10 Top Five match-ups and has gone 4-5. The Horns and Sooners tied the one Top-Five game when Texas entered as the higher ranked team.

616-86 (.718) over 232 years of football. The Longhorns rank third in all-time winning percentage (837-317-33/.7190), while Oklahoma is close behind in fourth (795-299-53/.7162). Texas currently ranks second in all-time wins and Oklahoma stands eighth. Texas has played in 48 bowl games and Oklahoma has made 42 bowl appearances.

LEAGUE LEADERS: Texas' 74 regular season conference wins since 1998 are the most of any Big 12 team, while OU ranks second with 71. Texas is 74-16 (.822) and Oklahoma is 71-18 (.798) in regular season league contests during that stretch. No other league team is within 19 victories of the Horns during that span. As a matter of fact, the Longhorns and Sooners combined 34 Big 12 regular season defeats over the last 12 years are fewer than any other conference program. Nebraska has the third-best record during that time span at 54-35, while Texas Tech has posted a 53-38 record.

TRADITIONAL POWERS: Texas and Oklahoma are two of the four winningest programs in NCAA history based on winning percentage. UT and OU have combined to produce a record of 1,632-

SOLD OUT: This year's game is sold out, marking the 64th consecutive sellout at the Cotton Bowl, which has a current stadium capacity of 92,200.

SOONER TIES: UT head coach Mack Brown is one of the few who have seen the Texas/Oklahoma rivalry from both schools' sidelines. Brown was the offensive coordinator at Oklahoma in 1984 when No. 1 Texas and No. 2 Oklahoma played to a 15-all tie. Longtime UT staff member Bill Little will be working his 41st consecutive Texas-Oklahoma game and his 455th consecutive game overall. University of Texas benefactor Frank Denius, for whom the Longhorns' practice facility is named, will be attending his 63rd Texas-OU game.

CONFERENCE FOES: Texas and Oklahoma met as conference opponents in 1996 for the first time in 77 years. The Longhorns and Sooners first met as league foes when the Sooners were a member of the Southwest Conference from 1915-19 and now have conference bragging rights on the line for the 14th year as members of the Big 12. OU holds a 7-6 advantage in Big 12 games and a 10-7 lead in all-time conference games against the Longhorns.

THE LAST TIME - NO. 5 TEXAS 45, NO. 1 OKLAHOMA 35

Dallas, Texas, October 11, 2008- No. 5 Texas trailed by as many as 11 points twice before putting on a 25-7 second-half surge in knocking off No. 1 Oklahoma, 45-35, at Dallas' Cotton Bowl. It was UT's first regular season victory over a No. 1 team since a 28-7 win over Oklahoma on Oct. 12, 1963. The win marked the Longhorns' third in the Red River Rivalry in the last four years and provided Texas with its second 6-0 start in the Mack Brown era. The Longhorns trailed by as many as 11 points on two occasions in the first half, but answered each challenge to pull within 21-20 at halftime. Oklahoma pushed its lead back to eight to open the second half, but the Longhorns responded to close the game on its 25-7 run. The Horns' 45 points matched a series high with the 2005 team, which won 45-12. Offensively, Texas registered 438 total yards on 70 plays (6.3 ypp), including 277 in the air and 161 on the ground, against an Oklahoma defense that was allowing just 256 total yards per game. The Longhorns had 17 plays of 10 or more yards and mounted four TD drives of at least 74 yards. Once inside the red zone, Texas converted on all seven of its chances. WR Jordan Shipley had a career day, setting highs in receptions (11) and all-purpose yards (225), including 112 receiving yards, one TD reception and a Red River Rivalry record 96-yard kickoff return TD (third longest in UT history). He also had a 37-yard, fourth-quarter reception that positioned the offense at the one-yard line for a TD to give Texas the lead for good at 38-35. For his performance, he earned national offensive player of the week honors from the Walter Camp Football Foundation. Shipley paired with fellow receiver Quan Cosby (122 receiving yards) to become the first duo to post 100-plus receiving yards in the same game since Sept. 13, 2003, when B.J. Johnson (123) and Roy Williams (117) did so against Arkansas. Cosby's 122 yards were the eighth-most by a player in the Red River Rivalry and the fourth-most by a Longhorn in the series. With nine receptions, Cosby joined with QB Colt McCoy to set the UT career record for completions between a QB and WR with 140. Cosby also became the fifth player in UT history to reach the career 2,000-yard receiving plateau with 2,013. McCoy finished the game 28-of-35 for 277 yards and one TD and rushed for 31 more yards to give him his second-consecutive 300-yard total offense game. He registered a pass efficiency rating of 155.9 against a Sooner defense that entered the game leading the nation in pass efficiency defense (85.6 rating). He also became the fifth Longhorn QB to clear the 1,000-yard career rushing mark with 1,010. RB Chris Ogbonnaya tallied his second straight career game with highs of 15 carries for 127 yards (8.5 ypc), including a career-long 62-yarder that set up the final of three Cody Johnson rushing TDs to give the Horns a 10-point advantage with 4:02 to play. Johnson's TDs give him nine for the season, which is fifth on the UT single-season freshman list. Defensively, Texas held Oklahoma to just one TD in the final 26:15 of the game and limited them to more than 100 yards below its season average and 14 points under its scoring average. UT held the Sooners to only 48 rushing yards on 26 attempts (1.8 ypc) and held OU to zero yards or less on 21 of its 67 plays. Oklahoma had only one run of more than 10 yards in the game and starting tailback DeMarco Murray was held to six yards on seven carries. In all, the Longhorns recorded three sacks, two INTs and three forced fumbles. DE Brian Orakpo recorded two of those sacks for minus-15 yards and added two more tackles for loss, two hurries and a forced fumble to go with seven tackles. One of his sacks on Sooners QB Sam Bradford came in the third quarter and stalled an OU drive, which allowed the Longhorns to take possession for a field goal and their first lead of the game at 30-28. LB Roddrick Muckelroy led the team in tackles with a career high of 16, while fellow LB Sergio Kindle notched five tackles and a sack. Despite losing CB Ryan Palmer to an injury in the second quarter, Texas' young secondary held firm against Oklahoma, led by freshman safeties Earl Thomas and Blake Gideon. Thomas had three tackles, a forced fumble and picked off Bradford twice, including a second-quarter interception that allowed UT's offense to drive for a field goal to cut the Sooners' lead to 21-20 at the half. Gideon finished second on the team in tackles with eight and one PBU. The Longhorn special teams lived up to their name as K Hunter Lawrence stepped into his first action in the Red River Rivalry and was perfect on FGs of 26, 33 and 28 yards and all four PATs. He is still perfect in both categories for the season (7-of-7 FG/28-of-28 PATs). P John Gold averaged 46.5 yards on four punts with a long of 51. In all, Oklahoma's first six drives and 9-of-12 overall started inside its own 30.

OFF TO THE FAIR: The Texas/Oklahoma game is once again a part of a state festival with the State Fair of Texas surrounding the event. That continues a tradition which began in 1929. That year, the game was played in an old wooden structure called Fair Park Stadium, which was located on what is now a parking lot at Fair Park. A new stadium, also named Fair Park Stadium, was built in 1930 and renamed in 1936 as the Cotton Bowl. The name change came about because, at the time, Dallas was the largest interior spot cotton market in the world.

LIGHTS, CAMERA, ACTION: ABC Sports is broadcasting this year's game, which marks the 57th time the Texas/Oklahoma matchup will be televised. ABC will be carrying the game for the 18th time in the past 19 years. FOX Sports Southwest's telecast of the 1998 game snapped a string of seven consecutive contests carried by ABC. Thirty-eight UT/OU games have been network telecasts. The first-ever television appearance came in 1948 when a Fort Worth station carried the game live. Excluding OU television probation years (1974-75 and '89), the game is being televised for the 34th year in a row.

THE BATTLE LINE: One of the unique characteristics of the Texas/OU rivalry is the colors. With the tickets divided equally, burnt orange and crimson split down the middle. OU claims the south horseshoe from the 50-yard line and UT the horseshoe north of midfield. As the home team, the Longhorns will wear orange jerseys and occupy the west bench area with that role reversing next season. The Texas media relations office will handle the press box operations and stat crew.

THE GOLDEN HAT: To the victor goes the Golden Hat, a rotating trophy representing the winner of the Texas/Oklahoma contest. It's a gold cowboy hat mounted on a large block of wood and it has been a part of the series since the State Fair of Texas donated it in 1941. The only change has been the actual color. When it first arrived, it was known as the "Bronze Hat" and actually was bronze. When that hat was reworked in the 1970s, it came out gold, hence it is now officially known as the Golden Hat.

GOVERNOR'S CUP: The Governor's Cup is exchanged by the Governors of Texas and Oklahoma following the Red River Rivalry. The tradition started when Texas Governor Dolph Briscoe donated the trophy, and each year it is transported from the office of the previous year's winning Governor to Dallas. It is displayed in the Hall of State on game day and then transported to the office of that year's winning Governor after it has received its engraving.

UT/OU TORCHLIGHT PARADE:

The annual Torchlight Parade is set for Wednesday night at 8 p.m. at the Main Mall on the UT campus. Head coach Mack Brown and the Longhorns squad will be on hand at the Littlefield Fountain at approximately 9 p.m.

TEXAS RIDING A NATIONAL-LEADING STREAK OF EIGHT CONSECUTIVE 10-WIN SEASONS:

Texas has posted at least 10 wins in each of the last eight seasons, becoming just the third team in college football history to win at least 10 games in eight straight seasons. The Horns' streak is tied for second all-time with Miami (1985-92), trailing Florida State's streak of 14 consecutive seasons. The current streak also is the longest active mark in the nation. Overall, Texas' 120 victories over the last 12 years are the most in the nation. The Horns also have won more Big 12 games (74) than any other team in the conference during that time. In addition, the Horns set a school record last season by winning a bowl game for the fifth straight year after defeating No. 10 Ohio State in the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl. Texas is one of only two schools nationally that has won five consecutive bowl games. The Fiesta Bowl win marked UT's seventh bowl victory in the last eight years, including three BCS triumphs and a BCS Championship Game victory. Mack Brown's eight bowl victories at UT are tied with Darrell Royal. In fact, UT's eight bowl victories over the last 11 seasons under Brown equals the amount Texas won in the 30 years prior to Brown's arrival.

BOWL ROLL: Texas played in a bowl game for a UT-record 11th straight season in 2008, bettering the previous mark of nine-straight from 1977-85. The Horns have won seven of their last eight bowls and have an 8-3 record under Mack Brown. In the 11 years prior to Brown's arrival, Texas went to five bowls and was 2-3. Brown is the first UT coach since Darrell Royal, who was 8-7-1 in bowl games, to post a .500 or better record. With a 24-21 victory over No. 10 Ohio State in the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl, Texas has won bowl games in five consecutive years for the first time in school history (2004-08). They are one of only two schools nationally to accomplish that feat. The Horns did win five straight previously (1963-64, '66, '68-69), but the streak was interrupted by seasons that did not result in a bowl. Brown's personal string, including time at North Carolina, goes back even further. He has directed his teams to 17 straight bowls, which is the second-longest active streak in the nation.

LB Roddrick Muckelroy, WR Jordan Shipley, S Earl Thomas and OT Adam Ulatoski. Acho is listed on the Lott Trophy (Defensive IMPACT Player of the Year) watch list, while Hall was tabbed for the Rimington Trophy (nation's top center) and the Outland Trophy (nation's top interior lineman). Kindle appeared on three watch lists, the Nagurski Trophy (nation's top defensive player), Bednarik Award (nation's top defensive player) and Hendricks Award (nation's top defensive end). Lawrence is a member of the Lou Groza Award watch list (nation's top place-kicker). McCoy was named to three watch lists, the Walter Camp Football Foundation Player of the Year award, which he won last season, the Davey O'Brien Award (nation's top quarterback) and the Manning Award (nation's top quarterback). Muckelroy was tabbed for the Bednarik Award (nation's top defensive player), while Shipley earned spots on the WCFF Player of the Year award and Biletnikoff Award (nation's top wide receiver) watch lists. Thomas was recognized on the Jim Thorpe Award (nation's top defensive back) watch list and Ulatoski was named to the Outland Trophy (nation's top interior lineman) watch list.

NO. 2 ALL-TIME: In 2008, Texas moved ahead of Notre Dame for second place on the NCAA all-time victory list. At 837 victories, Texas trails only Michigan in all-time wins. With the Longhorns in second place on that list, it marks the first time since 1932 that Michigan and Notre Dame do not occupy the one-two spots in all-time wins. Since Mack Brown arrived in 1998, Texas has posted a 120-26 record and moved ahead of Alabama, Notre Dame and Nebraska on the all-time victory chart.

TWELFTH YEAR UNDER MACK BROWN: With Mack Brown in his 12th season at Texas, he is just the fourth coach in the 117 years of Texas football to coach the Longhorns for at least a decade and just the second UT coach to win 100 games while at Texas. Darrell Royal, who won 167 games, has the longest tenure at 20 years, while

D.X. Bible and Fred Akers each coached in Austin for 10 seasons. Brown is the first coach in UT history to post 200 victories during a career. With a 120-26 (.822) record at UT, Brown is the architect of the nation's best record during that stretch. In addition, Brown has led the Horns to a 93-15 (.861) mark over the last nine seasons, which is the nation's second-best record over that timespan, and includes five 11-win seasons (2001, '02, '04, '05 and '08). The 11-win seasons are third-best to UT's 13-win campaign in 2005 and its 12-win season in '08. Texas is the only school in the nation that has posted at least 10 wins in each of the last eight seasons (a UT record). Brown is the lone coach nationally to lead his team to nine or more victories in 13 straight seasons. His 11 straight seasons at UT of nine or more victories are a school best. Under Brown, the Horns have posted Top 10 finishes six times in the last eight years (2001, '02, '04, '05, '07 and '08). Prior to his arrival, the last time UT finished in the Top 10 was 1983. In addition, Texas played in a bowl game for a school-record 11th-consecutive season, bettering the previous streak of nine straight from 1977-85. Brown's personal strings, including time at North Carolina, go back even further. He has posted 19 consecutive winning seasons and taken his teams to 17 consecutive bowl games. Both of those marks are the second-longest active streaks in the nation.

200 CAREER VICTORIES: With a victory against Texas A&M in 2008, Mack Brown became the first head coach in UT history to reach the 200-victory plateau (206-100-1/.673) during a career. Brown became just the 19th coach, who has spent at least 10 years at a NCAA Football Bowl Subdivision (FBS) school, to win 200 games and the seventh-youngest coach to do so. He also is one of only four active coaches, who has spent at least 10 years at an FBS school, to reach the 200-victory mark. In addition, Brown is one of only 10 active coaches at FBS schools who have won 100 games at their current school (120-26/.822). Of the 80 coaches that have ever won 100 games at a FBS school, Brown is the 14th fastest to reach the century mark (124 games) and the third-fastest among active coaches. With 206 victories, Brown ranks 14th on the NCAA all-time victories list.

UT'S NO. 2 ALL-TIME: Mack Brown has won 120 games at Texas. He is in second place on UT's all-time list behind only Darrell Royal, who tallied 167 victories from 1957-76. Brown moved ahead of Fred Akers, who posted 86 wins from 1977-86, during the 2006 season.

NINE-WIN SEASONS: Texas has posted at least nine victories for 11 straight seasons. The streak of 11 straight seasons of nine or more victories is a UT first and the longest active string in the nation. In addition, with 10 wins in his final two seasons at North Carolina, Mack Brown is the lone coach nationally to lead his team to nine or more victories in 13 straight seasons.

STRING OF SUCCESS: With a 2008 No. 3 final ranking, Texas has finished the year ranked among the nation's Top 15 in each of the last nine seasons, a Longhorn best. In addition, UT has finished in the Top 10 in six of the last eight seasons (2001, '02, '04, '05, '07 and '08). You have to go back to Darrell Royal's string of success in the late 1960s, when the Horns finished among the Top Five four out of five years (1968-72), to equal that consistency in UT history.

REWRITE THE RECORD BOOK:

During Mack Brown's 12-year tenure at Texas, the Horns have set 215 school records. The offense has led the way by setting 136 team, individual, game, season and career records. UT also has set 14 defensive records, 32 special teams records and 28 freshman records under Brown. In addition, the Horns have set every major school attendance record during the Mack Brown era.

BROWN'S TOP 10 HORNS: Mack Brown revived the Horns as a Top 10 regular beginning with a No. 5 preseason ranking in 2001. Since then, the Horns have earned a Top 10 standing in 112 of the last 135 AP polls. All totaled, UT has spent 119 weeks ranked among the Top 10 since Brown arrived in 1998. In the same 12-year stretch prior to his arrival, UT spent just 16 weeks rated among the Top 10. Brown has led the Horns to a final Top 10 ranking in six of the last eight seasons. In 2008, Brown led Texas to its first regular-season No. 1 ranking since 1984. In 2005, he led UT to its first No. 1 ranking to end the season since 1969. Before Brown took over the program, the last time UT earned a Top 10 finish was 1983. From the start of the 1984 season to Brown's arrival in 1998, UT was in the Top 10 just 28 times in 14 seasons.

UT AND THE AP TOP 10: As a result of its loss at Kansas State in 2006, Texas had its string of 46-straight weeks in The AP Top 10 snapped. Prior to that, the last time the Horns were not among The AP Top 10 was in the final poll of the 2003 season. The 46-straight weeks was the second-longest streak in the nation and bettered the Horns' run of 40 straight weeks from 1968-71. It also was the longest for the Horns in the Mack Brown era. The longest Texas streak in The AP Top 10 is 60 weeks from 1961-65. Currently, Texas has an active streak of 22 consecutive weeks ranked in the Top 10. In addition, the Horns have been ranked in The AP Top 5 for 19 consecutive weeks, which is the longest active streak in the nation and is tied for the longest streak in the Mack Brown era (19 weeks, 2005-06).

EIGHT STRAIGHT TOP 15 FINISHES:

Texas' No. 3 ranking in 2008 marked the ninth straight year the Horns finished ranked among the nation's Top 15. That is the first time UT has ever accomplished that feat. The 2008 standing followed a No. 10 ranking in 2007, a No. 13 ranking in 2006, a No. 1 ranking in 2005, a No. 5 ranking in 2004, a No. 12 ranking in 2003, a No. 6 ranking in 2002, a No. 5 ranking in 2001 and a No. 12 ranking in 2000.

WIRE-TO-WIRE: Texas is the nation's only school that has both started and finished the season ranked among the nation's Top 15 in each of the last nine seasons.

TACKLING THE TOP 25: Texas is 23-6 (.793) in its last 29 games versus Top 25 opponents, including a 17-3 mark (.850) in its last 20 match-ups with all three losses coming to Top-10 ranked teams. That's a continuation of the success the Longhorns have had against ranked foes during the Mack Brown era. In Brown's 12 years in Austin, UT is 30-17 (.638) versus Top 25 opponents. That compares to a 14-31-2 (40.5%) mark in the 12 years before Brown arrived. In fact, the Longhorns have posted a winning record against ranked opponents in each of the last seven seasons as compared to just two seasons in the 12 prior to Brown's arrival.

AP TOP 25 STREAK AT UT RECORD 148 STRAIGHT WEEKS:

Texas has been ranked among The Associated Press Top 25 for a UT-record and nation-leading 148 straight weeks, bettering a 114-week streak from 1968-76. The next longest active streak is USC's 123 weeks. In addition, the Horns have been ranked in The AP Top 5 for 19 consecutive weeks, which is the longest active streak in the nation and is tied for the longest streak in the Mack Brown era (19 weeks, 2005-06). Texas has finished the year ranked among The AP Top 25 in each of Mack Brown's 11 years in Austin. That marks the first time in school history Texas has finished in The AP Top 25 for 11 straight years, bettering the previous record of eight straight seasons from 1968-75. Dating back to his days at UNC, Brown's teams have finished the year ranked among The AP Top 25 in each of the last 13 seasons, including eight Top 10 finishes.

UT-RECORD 176 STRAIGHT WEEKS IN COACHES POLL:

UT has been ranked among the USA Today Coaches Poll for 176 straight weeks dating back to late in the 1998 season. The 176 straight weeks is the longest UT streak in any poll and the nation's longest active streak in the coaches poll. The next longest active streak is USC's 121 weeks. The Horns' previous longest streak in the coaches poll was 54 weeks from 1977-80. Texas has been ranked in the first and last coaches poll in all 11 of Mack Brown's seasons in Austin, a UT best. Dating back to his days at UNC, Brown's teams have finished the year ranked among the coaches' Top 25 in each of the last 13 seasons, including eight Top 10 finishes.

CONFERENCE COMPETITION:

Mack Brown, who has guided the Horns to the 2005 Big 12 Championship and has won or shared the Big 12 South Division Championship five times, is 74-16 (.822) in 12 seasons of Big 12 play. That is the best league record over that span, ahead of Oklahoma (71-18), Nebraska (54-35) and Texas Tech (53-37). UT has won 42 of its last 49 games (.857) against Big 12 foes. The Horns had tied the school record by winning 21 straight conference games from 2004-06 before the streak was snapped at Kansas State in 2006. The record of 21 straight conference victories was set from 1968-71 when Texas was competing in the Southwest Conference. The 21-straight Big 12 victories also marked the longest streak in league history. At 82-24 (.774), Texas has the top intraconference record since the Big 12 formed in 1996.

JAMAIL FIELD ADVANTAGE: During Mack Brown's 12-year tenure, Texas has won 63 of its 69 games (.913) at Royal-Texas Memorial Stadium/Jamail Field. The Horns' .905 home winning percentage (38-4) since 2003 ranks fourth nationally. That is a dramatic improvement from the Horns' 40-23-1 record in the 12 seasons prior to Brown's arrival. Under Brown, the Horns have outscored their opponents by an average of 43-16 and outgained them by an average of 467.4 yards to 284.5 at home.

JAMAIL FIELD STREAKS: Texas is currently on a 13-game home winning streak, which is the sixth-longest streak on UT record and is tied for the third-longest active streak in the nation with Utah behind Oklahoma (26) and Boise St. (22). In addition, the Horns have posted two of the five-longest home winning streaks in school history during the Mack Brown era. The Horns won 20 in a row at home from 1999-2003 (third-longest in school history). Then, from 2003-06, Texas won 16-straight home games, which tied for the fourth-best string on UT record. The longest home winning streak in school history is a 41-game streak from 1968-76. Texas also holds the Big 12 record for longest home intraconference winning streak with a 26-game streak from 1999-2006.

In addition, the Horns set the league record with a 26-game home winning streak over Big 12 opponents, which was snapped in 2006. Prior to 2006, the last time UT had lost a home game against a league foe was 1999 (35-17 to No. 13 Kansas State).

ROAD WARRIORS: Texas is 55-20 (.733) away from home (road and neutral sites) over the last 12 years compared to a 36-38-1 (.487) record in the 12 years prior to Mack Brown's arrival in 1998. The Horns' 53-17 (.757) mark in road and neutral-site games since 1999 is the nation's best record over that span. Texas is 42-9 (.824) on the road (not including neutral-site games) and 36-5 (.878) versus unranked road foes during the Mack Brown era. Of the nine true-road-game losses in Brown's 12-year tenure, two came in his first three games at UT. Prior to Brown's arrival, UT posted just four winning road records in the 12 seasons leading up to 1998. All totalled during that time, UT was just 27-30 (.474) in true road games. The Longhorns have won 37 of their last 41 true road games (.902). The only losses during that stretch were a group of shootouts, 42-38 at Texas Tech in 2002, 45-42 at Kansas State in 2006, 38-30 at Texas A&M in 2007 and 39-33 at No. 6 Texas Tech in 2008. UT's loss at KSU in '06 snapped a school-record streak of 17 consecutive road wins. The 17-straight road wins eclipsed the previous record of 13 set from 1981-84. UT also won 12 consecutive road games from 2000-02. In addition, UT is currently on a streak of 10 consecutive non-conference road wins, which is a school record, bettering the previous streak of seven from 1956-63.

BIG 12 ROAD SUCCESS: Texas has won 27 of its last 31 (.871) true Big 12 Conference road games (not including neutral-site games), including a league-record 13 consecutive conference road wins from 2002-06. The Horns are 31-6 (.838) in league road contests under Mack Brown. Highlighting the Horns' road record under Brown are victories at Nebraska (1998) to end the Huskers' nation-best 47-game home winning streak, another win that snapped a Nebraska 26-game home winning streak (2002) and a victory to break Oklahoma State's 10-game winning streak (2003).

CAPS AND GOWNS: In 11 seasons under Mack Brown, the Longhorn football program has had a great deal of success when it comes to graduating its student-athletes. Over the last four years, that success in the classroom has reached an all-time high.

By the end of the 2009 spring semester, 84 of Texas' 99 (84.8%) seniors, who completed their eligibility at Texas during that stretch, earned their degrees. During the Horns' National Championship season in 2005, 24 of 29 (89.7%) seniors earned their degrees by last May. Eighteen of those seniors had received their diplomas prior to UT's victory over USC. The early graduation has been a positive trend at UT as well. Over the last four years, nearly 50 percent (48-of-99) of Texas' seniors have graduated prior to the Longhorns' bowl game. The Longhorns' 2008 class of seniors featured 19-of-23 (82.6%) graduates by the end of spring with all 23 on schedule to complete their degrees by the Spring of 2010. Twenty-two of 24 seniors (91.7%) from the class of 2007 have graduated with the other two on pace to complete their degrees in 2009. From the 2006 group of 23 seniors, 19 (82.6%) have graduated and four more are less than two semesters short of their degrees.

EARLIER GRADUATION: Another growing trend has been Longhorns earning their degrees in three and a half years. Over the last two seasons, six Longhorns have graduated in that timespan. In 2007, WR Nate Jones, who is now with the St. Louis Rams, S Drew Kelson, DT Derek Lokey, who was on the Kansas City Chiefs' roster in 2008, and DT Frank Okam, who plays with the Houston Texans, earned their degrees in under four years. In 2008, DT Roy Miller received his degree in communications studies after just three and a half years, and RB Chris Ogbonnaya finished his degree in history in the same timeframe.

LONGHORNS IN THE NFL: The Texas Football program is not only one of the best at the collegiate level, but since Mack Brown's arrival, it has become one of the premier sources of talent for the NFL as well. Currently, Texas has 42 players on NFL rosters, including five from last year's team. The 42 players is tied for the most nationally and easily leads the Big 12. And, they aren't just roster players either. Of the 33 Longhorns on rosters prior to this season, 30 have started games during their NFL careers, including 23 who were 2008 starters and 24 that started as rookies. Among that group of 33, seven have earned a spot in a Pro Bowl and seven have played in a Super Bowl with four coming away as Super Bowl Champions.

In addition, Texas has the most Top 10 and Top Five picks in the NFL Draft since 1999. The Horns' eight Top 10 picks are tied with USC and their six Top Five picks lead LSU, Miami, Penn State and USC (three).

DKR'S RENOVATIONS: As Texas football proceeds through the 21st century, Darrell K Royal-Texas Memorial Stadium continues to evolve as a state-of-the-art facility at the forefront of college football. Following the 2008 season, Texas installed FieldTurf as its playing surface and permanent bleachers were added to the south end of the stadium. Combined with the previous year's north end zone project, DKR-Texas Memorial Stadium now has a stadium capacity of 100,119, which is the fifth-largest college stadium in the country and the largest college stadium in the southwest. The north end zone expansion project that was completed prior to the 2008 season featured an upper deck, club seating, an academic center and a war memorial plaza. The expansion added approximately 2,108 club seats and 47 suites. The lower deck of the north end zone was completed for the 2007 season. Another major upgrade was made prior to 2007, when a new video board was installed at the south end of the stadium. At

In addition, the interior of the Moncrief-Neuhaus Athletics Complex, most notably the players' lounge, is consistently being upgraded. Prior to this season, a new academic center was constructed. It is approximately three times the size of the old one at Moncrief-Neuhaus. It features writing, math and computer labs, numerous tutoring areas, a multimedia classroom and academic staff office space. It is all part of a $176.5-million renovation project at the Longhorns' stadium.

“FAN”-TASTIC: Texas has been one of the best-attended programs in the nation over the past 10 years, drawing over 84,000 fans per game. The Horns, who have played in front of a sellout crowd in their last 57 home games, have attracted 49 of the top 50 crowds in UT history since Mack Brown took over in 1998. Texas' school-record season-ticket sales of 84,100 in 2009 are more than double the 39,743 sold in 1997, the UT record when Brown arrived. With the completion of the stadium expansion project, the Horns opened 2009 against ULM by hosting 101,096 fans. They upped the single-game attendance record to 101,297 during the Texas Tech game, which is the largest crowd to see a college sporting event in the Southwest. UT's previous single-game attendance record of 98,621 was established when it hosted Texas A&M on Thanksgiving night last season. Texas also set a season-attendance record in 2008 with a total of 686,324, which bettered the Horns' previous season best of 619,534, set in 2006. Overall, the top 23 home crowds at Texas have come since '06. On top of that, Texas has attracted record crowds in six of its road games over the past four seasons, at Texas Tech (56,333, 2008 and 56,158, 2006), vs. Oklahoma in the Cotton Bowl (92,182, 2008), at UTEP (53,415, 2008), at Texas A&M (88,253, 2007) and at Nebraska (85,187, 2006).

HORNS' FINISHING TOUCH: One of the mantras of the Texas football program under Mack Brown is “finish,” and the Horns have done just that since Brown arrived. Over Brown's 12-year tenure, UT has gone 25-5 (.833) in games decided by four points or less and 17-4 (.810) in games decided by three points or less. The Longhorns' have won 14 of their last 15 (933) games decided by three points or less. The only loss came in a shootout at Kansas State, 45-42, in 2006, when Colt McCoy was sidelined by injury after the opening drive. The success under Brown is an improvement from the 12 years prior to his arrival when UT went 18-15-2 (.543) in games decided by four points or less and 16-11-2 (.586) in games decided by three points or less.

COMEBACKS UNDER MACK BROWN: During Mack Brown's 12 seasons at Texas, the Horns have registered 22 second-half comebacks, including 12 fourth-quarter comebacks. UT has recorded the six largest comebacks in school history during the Mack Brown era.

vs. NO. 10 OHIO STATE (2008): Texas trailed 6-3 at the half before taking a 17-6 lead entering the fourth quarter. But, the Buckeyes ran off 15 straight points to take a 21-17 lead with just 2:05 remaining. From there, Colt McCoy led an 11-play, 78-yard drive that culminated with a 26-yard TD pass to Quan Cosby with 16 seconds left to give UT the 24-21 victory.

vs. NO. 1 OKLAHOMA (2008): The Horns erased two 11-point deficits in the first half and trailed by one, 21-20, at halftime. OU went up 28-20 before Texas scored 10 straight to take a 30-28 lead late in the third quarter. OU answered with a TD early in the fourth to make it 35-30, but UT scored the game's final 15 points over the last 7:37 to win, 45-35. In total, Texas went on a 25-7 run to seal the victory.

at OKLAHOMA STATE (2007): Texas erased two fourth-quarter deficits and a second-half deficit, including the largest fourth-quarter comeback in school history against Oklahoma State. The Horns trailed 35-14 entering the final stanza before scoring 24 unanswered points to win, 38-35.

NEBRASKA (2007): Texas trailed Nebraska, 17-9, entering the fourth quarter before running off 19 straight points to win, 28-25. After falling behind 17-3 early in the third quarter, Texas produced 336 total yards and 25 points in the second half to help seal the victory.

at TEXAS TECH (2006): After trailing the Texas Tech, 21-0, in the first quarter, the Horns closed the gap to 31-21 at halftime and 31-28 entering the fourth quarter, before going on to win 35-31.

at NO. 4 OHIO STATE (2005): The Horns trailed the Buckeyes, 22-16, entering the final quarter, but Vince Young connected with Limas Sweed for a 24-yard TD with 2:37 remaining to give Texas a 23-22 lead. A late safety gave the Horns a 25-22 victory.

vs. NO. 1 USC (2005): The Longhorns trailed 38-26 with 6:42 remaining in the game before Vince Young led two TD drives, including his game-winning eight-yard TD run with just 19 seconds left, to secure the win and the National Championship.

Prior to 2005: The Horns notched four second-half comebacks and a fourth-quarter comeback in 2004, including a 28-point comeback against Oklahoma State, the largest in school history. UT also registered a half-time comeback in '02, a fourth-quarter comeback in '01, two halftime comebacks in 1999 and two fourth-quarter comebacks in '98.

DOMINANT PERFORMANCE: In the UTEP game, Texas set a school record in yardage differential at 586 yards after the offense posted 639 yards and the defense allowed just 53 yards. The previous best was a 570-yard differential, set in 1969 against TCU when the offense posted 651 yards and the defense gave up 81 yards. Texas' 639 yards were the sixth-most in UT history and the 53 yards were the fewest allowed by a Texas defense since it gave up 37 yards to Southwestern in 1944 and the lowest total in UTEP history. The Longhorns held the Miners without an offensive touchdown for the first time since 2003 and limited UTEP to 53 total yards on 51 snaps (1.04 ypp). The Miners only ran eight plays in Texas territory with four of the plays coming after a UT turnover at the Texas 41. UT's 810 all-purpose yards (335p/304r/94kr/73pr/4intr) ranks fourth on UT's all-time list.

THE FOLLOW-UP: After putting together one of the most dominating defensive performances in UT history against UTEP, the Longhorns followed up by holding Colorado to 127 total yards, which is tied for the 17th-best performance on school record. The Horns gave up just 42 rushing yards on 34 attempts (1.2 ypc) and 85 passing yards on 23 attempts (3.7 ypa). Over the last two games, the Texas defense has given up just 180 total yards (51r/129p) on 108 plays (1.7 ypp), which is the best two-game stretch in UT history. On 28 drives over that span, the Horns have held their opponents to one first down or less on 25 of them (89.3%). They have only allowed two drives to cover more than 20 yards and had nine drives that resulted in negative yardage. The Texas defense has held opposing quarterbacks to 18-of-49 (36.7%) passing for 129 yards (two TDs), while intercepting six passes for a 47.8 passer rating. The 51 rushing yards have come on 59 attempts for a 0.9 yards-per-carry average.

OFFENSE-DEFENSE BALANCE:

With a No. 7 national ranking in total offense (479.6 ypg) and a No. 4 ranking in total defense (233.0 ypg), Texas is one of just two teams that rank in the top 10 of both categories this season with Florida being the other.

RED-ZONE RESULTS: Texas is tied for fourth nationally in red-zone efficiency, having gone 25-of-26 this season, with the only blemish being a blocked FG. The Horns have scored 17 TDs and kicked eight FGs.

THIRD-DOWN MAGIC: Texas is one of just five teams nationally that ranks in the Top 25 in both third-down offense and defense. The Horns lead the nation in third-down defense, having allowed just 15 conversions on 72 attempts (20.8%), while the offense ranks 21st nationally after converting 36-of-75 third downs (48.0%).

OFFENSIVE EXPLOSION: In 11 completed seasons under Mack Brown and offensive coordinator Greg Davis, UT's offense has produced nine of the top 10 passing seasons, 10 of the top 12 total yardage campaigns and the top eight scoring years in school history. The Horns have also averaged at least 200 yards both rushing and passing in four of the 11 seasons. During their tenure, the Longhorns have registered 136 school records, thirty-nine 50-point games and five of the top seven total offense games on school record. In addition, UT has produced forty-two 500-yard total offense performances (there are only 65 of them in the 117 years of Texas football) and has recorded 10 of the school's twenty 600-yard total offense games. The Horns' balanced attack has produced at least 400 yards of offense in 74 of its last 108 games (68.5%) and has registered 200 yards both passing and rushing 46 times under Brown and Davis.

Mack Brown era in bold
Prior to Mack Brown era in italics

Texas has scored at least 25 points in 57 of its last 64 games (89.1%). In addition, the Horns had scored at least 28 points in a UT best 19 consecutive games, bettering the previous mark of 12 straight (2005-06), prior to last season's Fiesta Bowl. Texas also posted an 11-game streak from 2000-01. Prior to Brown's arrival, the longest streak of scoring at least 28 points was seven games.

2009: Over five games, Texas is averaging 47.2 points per game (first NCAA), 479.6 total yards (seventh NCAA), 304.6 passing yards (12th NCAA) and 175.0 yards rushing (39th NCAA). The Horns have scored 236 points over their first five games, which is the exact same amount UT scored through five games last year. Those totals are the most since 1915 (281 points). UT has scored on 50.0 percent of its possessions (34-or-68/25 TDs/nine FGs) and is 25-of-26 in the red zone (t-fourth NCAA), including 17 TDs. The Horns have also moved the chains, averaging 26.6 first downs per game, which ranks fifth nationally.

ULM: The Longhorns opened the season by posting 562 yards of total offense (363p/199r), including 311 total yards in the first half, against ULM. The Horns produced nine scoring drives, including three 10-play drives and an 11-play drive. UT scored on all seven of its red-zone possessions, including six TDs and a FG to end the first half.

Wyoming: The Horns posted 544 yards of total offense (353p/191r), including 301 yards in the second half. UT scored the final 35 points of the game, including TDs on five of their final eight possessions, while going 4-of-4 on red zone chances. The Horns also produced 20 plays of at least 10 yards (13p/7r).

Texas Tech: Texas posted 340 yards of total offense (205p/135r) and scored on four of its six second-half possessions (3 TD/1 FG), including consecutive TD drives to open the third quarter. After entering the fourth quarter with a 24-17 lead, Texas held the ball for 9:15 of the final stanza and ran 21 plays for 71 yards. During the pivotal stretch, Colt McCoy was 6-of-7 for 42 yards and a TD.

UTEP: Texas posted 639 yards of total offense (335p/304r), which is the sixth-best total in UT history. It marked only the second time in UT history that the offense went over 300 yards both rushing and passing with the other game coming in 1990 against Houston. In addition, Texas posted 47 points and 320 yards of total offense in the first half alone. With the defense allowing just 53 total yards, the 586-yard differential is the largest margin in school history. The Horns scored on 10 of their 16 drives (seven TDs/ three FGs), including 7-of-9 first-half drives (five TDs/two FGs).

2008: Texas averaged 42.4 points per game (fifth NCAA), 475.8 total yards (ninth NCAA), 308.3 passing yards (seventh NCAA) and 167.5 rushing yards (41st NCAA). UT posted at least 400 yards of total offense in 12 of its 13 games, at least 500 yards in five games and posted a 600-yard game against Rice. Overall, Texas' 4,008 passing yards set a school record by almost 500 yards, while its 551 points and 6,185 total yards rank second on UT's single-season list. Texas ranked third nationally on third down, converting 95-of-173 (54.9%), and 16th in red zone offense after converting 61-of-68 chances (90.0%, 52 TDs/nine FGs).

2007: The Texas offense finished the 2007 campaign as one of only 10 teams nationally to average 200 yards passing and 200 yards rushing. The Horns posted 255.4 yards passing (39th NCAA), 207.5 yards rushing (17th NCAA), 462.9 total yards (13th NCAA) and 37.2 points per game (14th NCAA). UT produced at least 400 yards of total offense in nine games and at least 500 yards in five, while scoring at least 30 points in nine of the 13 games. UT eclipsed the 200-yard rushing plateau on seven occasions and reached at least 300 yards rushing in three of its last five games.

2006: Texas finished the 2006 season ranked sixth nationally in scoring offense (35.9 ppg), ninth in passing efficiency (155.9 rating) and 22nd in total offense (391.5 ppg). The Horns registered at least 400 yards in seven of the 13 games and scored at least 35 points in eight contests.

2005: UT led the nation in scoring offense (50.2 ppg), ranked second in rushing offense (274.9 ypg) and finished third in total offense (512.1 ypg). The Horns produced at least 600 yards of offense three times in 2005, which was a first in UT history. Texas also came close to having three more 600-yard games with 591 against La.-Lafayette, 585 at Missouri and 556 in the Rose Bowl versus No. 1 USC. UT's 600-yard games came in three consecutive contests against Oklahoma State (606), Baylor (645) and Kansas (617). Texas rushed for at least 300 yards six times in 2005, matching 2004's total for the most by a Texas team since 1977. UT averaged a balanced 274.9 rushing yards and 237.2 passing yards in 2005, marking just the fifth time in school history the Horns averaged better than 200 yards both rushing and passing.

Prior to 2005: UT ranked second in the nation in rushing (299.2 ypg), seventh in total offense (464.4 ypg) and 12th in scoring (35.3 ppg) in 2004. The Horns posted at least 600 yards of offense twice. They recorded 673 yards of offense (third-most in UT history) versus North Texas and 600 total yards against No. 19 Oklahoma State. In 2003, Texas averaged 232.5 rushing yards (eighth NCAA) and 206.6 passing yards, which was the fourth time in school history UT averaged better than 200 yards for each. Texas also averaged 439.2 yards of offense (20th NCAA) while averaging 41.0 points per game (sixth NCAA) in 2003. That came one year after UT averaged 250.1 passing yards and 33.8 points per game (16th NCAA) in 2002. In 2001, the Horns' led the Big 12 in scoring (39.2 ppg/sixth NCAA) and pass efficiency (136.1 rating/27th NCAA). Brown's first UT squad produced a school-best 692 yards against Rice in 1998 and averaged a balanced 266.5 yards passing per game and 204.2 yards rushing per game.

SCORING SPREE: Texas has averaged 39.7 points per game this decade, which ranks second nationally and first among BCS conference schools. The Horns have averaged at least 35 ppg in eight of the nine seasons this decade, including three seasons of at least 40 ppg. In 2005, UT set a then-NCAA record with 652 total points and a school record by averaging 50.2 ppg. During the Mack Brown era, Texas has averaged at least 34 ppg in each of his 11 seasons. In contrast, Texas averaged at least 30 ppg only 12 times in the 45 seasons prior to Brown's arrival.

RECORD-BREAKING YEAR: In 2005, Texas not only set records, it shattered them, in several team offensive categories. The Longhorns set an NCAA record for points scored in a season with 652. The previous high was 624 by Nebraska in 1983, and the previous UT record was 533 in 2003. The team also set school marks with 50.2 points per game (41.4, 1969), 6,657 total yards (5,709, 2003), 512.1 yards per game (472.1, 1969) and 5.91 yards per carry (5.84, 2004). UT became one of only four teams in NCAA history to average 50 or more points and 500 or more yards per game for a season, and the first to do it since

DID YOU KNOW?

In 145 games under Mack Brown, Texas has won 87-of-94 (92.6%) when scoring first.

1995. Texas scored at least 40 points in each of its last 11 games and 12-of-13 contests on the season. In 2005, only one other team in the nation (USC) scored 40 points in more than nine games. Texas scored at least 50 points in a game seven times in 2005. UT was the only school in the nation besides USC to accomplish that (versus NCAA Div. I-A). That is the most 50-point games the Horns have ever had in a season, surpassing the previous best of four set in 2003. As for 60-point games, Texas registered at least 60 points four times, which was also a UT first.

and '05) in a season in school history. UT has seen players record school single-season bests for rushing touchdowns (28, Ricky Williams, 1998), TD passes (32, Colt McCoy, 2008), TD receptions (12, Roy Williams, 2002/Limas Sweed, 2006), total TDs (45, Colt McCoy, 2008), passing yards (3,859, Colt McCoy, 2008), receptions (100, Kwame Cavil, 1999), scoring (168, Ricky Williams, 1998) and total offense (4,420, Colt McCoy, 2008). In addition, Colt McCoy set the NCAA single-season completion percentage record at 76.7% (332-of-433) in 2008. Cedric Benson became the fifth player in NCAA history to rush for over 1,000 yards in four straight seasons and finished his career ranked sixth on the NCAA all-time rushing list (5,540 yards). Vince Young became the first player in UT history to rush (1,079 yards) and pass (1,849 yards) for more than 1,000 yards in the same season in 2004 and then repeated the feat in 2005 with 1,050 yards rushing and 3,036 yards passing. He became the first player in NCAA history to rush for 1,000 yards or more and pass for at least 3,000 yards in the same season. He came within two rushing yards of becoming just the third freshman QB in NCAA history to post 1,000 yards rushing and passing in a season in 2003. The Longhorns' freshman records for rushing yards (1,053, Cedric Benson, 2001), rushing TDs (12, Cedric Benson, 2001/12, Cody Johnson, 2008), total TDs (13, Cedric Benson, 2001), 100-yard rushing games (5, Cedric Benson, 2001), passing yards (2,570, Colt McCoy, 2006), total offense (2,740, Colt McCoy, 2006), receptions (41, B.J. Johnson, 2000), receiving yards (809, Roy Williams, 2000), TD catches (8, Roy Williams, 2000) and TD passes (29, Colt McCoy, 2006) have also been set in the Brown era. In addition, McCoy's 29 TD passes in 2006 tied the NCAA record for freshmen.

MUSCHAMP'S STINGY SCORING D:

During his time at Texas, defensive coordinator Will Muschamp has led a Longhorn defense that has held all 18 opponents under their season scoring averages and 10 teams to 14 points or less. In 2009, the Horns have held all five opponents under their scoring averages and haven't allowed an offensive TD in two of five games. Overall, Texas has given up just 75 total points for a 15.0 points-per-game average (16th NCAA). In 2008, UT's defense allowed just 18.8 points per game (18th NCAA/first Big 12). That's a trend that goes back a few years for one of the nation's premier defensive coordinators. Over the last four seasons at Auburn and Texas, Muschamp has led defenses that have allowed 21 points or less in 34 of the last 44 games, including 14 or less 24 times. On average, his units are giving up just 16.4 points per game during that stretch. Previously, while at Auburn, Muschamp led a group that finished sixth nationally after allowing just 16.9 points per game in 2007. The Tigers held opponents to 20 points or less in 10 of their 13 games, including six games with 13 points or less. In 2006, Muschamp's D ranked seventh nationally after allowing just 13.9 points per game, including seven games with 14 points or less and two shutouts.

DEFENSIVE DOMINANCE: After inheriting a program that ranked among the NCAA's bottom half in total defense for the five seasons prior to his arrival, Mack Brown and the Longhorns' staff have reversed that trend. Texas has ranked among the nation's top 25 in total defense in eight of the last 11 seasons.

2009: Over five games, the Texas defense is allowing 15.0 points (16th NCAA), 233.0 total yards (fourth NCAA), a 96.0 pass efficiency rating (14th NCAA) and 46.2 rushing yards per game (first NCAA). On 70 total drives, the Horns have given up seven TDs and three FGs. Two of the field goals came after possession changes when the Horns gave up just 10 yards on eight plays. On 70 drives, the Horns' D has forced 28 three-and-outs or better (40.0%) and given up two first downs or less on 53 of the 70 drives (75.7%). Overall, the Texas defense has allowed just 1,165 total yards on 337 plays for a 3.5 yards-per-play average. The unit ranks first nationally in third-down defense, having allowed only 15 conversions on 72 attempts (20.8%). They have only let the opponent reach the red zone on 10 possessions and have given up just five TDs (43.0%), forcing three FGs and coming up with two INTs. In addition, the Horns D has forced 14 turnovers (eight INTs/six fumbles), which is the seventh-most nationally.

ULM: The Texas defense allowed 298 total yards (197p/101r). If you subtract ULM's long play of 75 yards, the Horns gave up just 223 yards on 64 plays for an average of 3.5 yards per play. Over the first three quarters, Texas only gave up 188 yards and eight first downs. UT's defense allowed just five third-down conversions on 15 attempts, including 1-of-8 in the first half. ULM had three drives that started inside the UT 40-yard line, but the Texas D stiffened and only allowed three points. On one of the series, UT defended six plays inside the 10-yard line and forced a turnover thanks to a Nolan Brewster INT.

Wyoming: The Horns allowed just 99 total yards in the first half and 273 yards for the game (188p/85r). The defense held the Cowboys to three points for the game with the other seven coming on a blocked punt return for a TD. The three points came on a field goal after Wyoming took over on the UT 14 and failed to make a first down, forcing the field-goal attempt.

During the second quarter alone, the Horns gave up just 21 yards on 16 plays and did not allow a first down. For the game, UT held Wyoming to 3.2 yards per play and just 3-of-17 on third down. Eight of Wyoming's 15 drives went for less than 10 yards and the Cowboys managed to reach Texas territory just twice on their final 11 drives.

Texas Tech: UT allowed just 125 yards on 44 plays (2.8 ypp) on the nine Texas Tech drives that did not result in scores. The Horns held the Red Raiders to two first downs or less on all nine of those drives and only allowed three third-down conversions on 13 attempts for the game. UT's D also limited Tech to minus-6 yards rushing. Texas held Texas Tech without a TD and only gave up 156 total yards in the first half. Tech opened the game with a 10-play, 56-yard FG drive, but could only manage 100 yards on 32 plays (3.1 ypp) for the rest of the half. It marked the first time in 19 games that Texas Tech did not score a TD in the first half.

UTEP: Texas held UTEP to just 53 total yards on 51 plays (1.04 ypp). The 53 yards were the fewest allowed by a Texas defense since it allowed 37 yards to Southwestern in 1944 and it marked the lowest total in UTEP history. It was the first time since 2003 the Miners were held without an offensive TD. Texas didn't allow UTEP to gain more than one first down on any of its 15 drives and forced three-and-outs or better on eight of them. Of UTEP's 51 plays, 47 went for less than 10 yards, including 38 plays of three yards or less. The Horns forced five turnovers, including four INTs. The five turnovers forced are the most since the 2007 Holiday Bowl victory over Arizona State and the four INTs were the most since the Baylor game of '07.

Colorado: UT held Colorado to 127 total yards on 57 plays (2.2 ypp), which is tied for the 17th-best performance on school record. The Horns gave up just 42 rushing yards on 34 attempts (1.2 ypc) and 85 passing yards on 23 attempts (3.7 ypa), while intercepting two passes, one of which was returned 92 yards for a TD by Earl Thomas. The Horns held the Buffs to one first down or less on 10 of their 13 drives, including five three and outs or better. CU's 13 drives averaged 4.3 plays for 9.5 yards. After allowing an eight-play, 66-yard drive to open the game, Texas held Colorado to just 61 yards on 49 plays (1.2 ypp) for the remainder of the game.

2008: The Texas defense led the Big 12 in scoring defense (18.8 ppg/18th NCAA), total defense (342.9 ypg/51st NCAA) and rushing defense (83.5 ypg/third NCAA) and was second in the conference in pass efficiency defense (124.2 rating). In addition, the Horns led the nation in sacks with 3.62 per game (47 total sacks) and posted at least four sacks in five of UT's 13 games. The unit gave up just 29 TDs, which tied for the 18th fewest nationally and were 12 fewer than any other Big 12 team. UT's opponents converted on only 64 of their 183 third-down attempts (35.0%) and the Horns allowed only 31 scores on 42 red-zone possessions (74.0%), which tied for 11th nationally, and gave up just 20 TDs (47.6%).

2007: Texas allowed 25.3 points, 371.2 total yards and 93.4 rushing yards per game (sixth NCAA) in 2007, while holding opponents to a 127.5 passer rating. UT held seven teams under 100 yards rushing, including three games of 10 yards or less. Texas held Rice to -11 yards rushing, which marked the fourth-best performance by the Longhorn D since 1990. The Horns also held five opponents to 14 points or fewer.

2006: Texas finished 2006 ranked third nationally against the run (61.2 ypg), 22nd in total defense (297.4 ypg) and 26th in scoring defense (18.3 ppg). The Horns only allowed two teams to rush for 100 yards and held seven opponents to 14 points or fewer. The 2006 UT defense produced the school's second-best effort since 1990 by holding North Texas to just 95 total yards. UT also held Rice to -12 yards rushing, which marked the fourth time since 1990 that UT held a team to negative yards rushing. In fact, seven of UT's top 22 performances against the rush since 1990 came during the 2006 campaign.

2005: The Longhorns ranked 10th nationally in total defense (302.9 ypg), eighth in scoring defense (16.4 ppg), eighth in passing defense (172.0 ypg) and 33rd in rushing defense (130.9 ypg). Texas only allowed opponents to reach 300 yards of total offense five times and held the remaining eight opponents to 267 yards or fewer. Statistically, UT's best defensive performance came against Oklahoma in the Red River Rivalry. The Sooners only managed 171 total yards and one TD. The Longhorns weren't far off that pace by allowing only 191 yards and one field goal to Colorado in the Big 12 Championship game.

Prior to 2005: Texas held its opponents to 320.1 yards (23rd NCAA), 17.9 points (18th NCAA) and 107.4 yards per game (16th NCAA). Texas ranked 25th nationally in total defense (329.8 ypg) and allowed just 21.1 points per game in 2003, while holding its opponents to 307.7 yards (16th NCAA) and 16.3 points per game (eighth NCAA) in 2002. UT was one of only two teams to post three shutouts against NCAA Division I-A opponents in 2002. The Longhorns defense went from ranking 85th nationally in total defense in 1997, the year prior to Brown's arrival, to back-to-back top 10 finishes in total defense in 1999-2000 and captured an NCAA statistical title in total defense in 2001. UT's 236.2 yards per game allowed that season were the fewest it had allowed since 1983 (212.0 ypg). It marked the first time since '83 and only the third time in school history that UT led the nation in total defense. Texas also led the Big 12 in rushing (89.5 ypg/sixth NCAA), passing (146.7 ypg/third NCAA) and scoring defense (13.7 ppg/third NCAA) while establishing itself as one of only two defenses ranked among the nation's top 10 in every major defensive category in 2001.

AIR DEFENSE: Texas' pass defense has been ranked in the Top 10 in five of the last nine seasons. It has allowed opponents to complete 53.0 percent (2,083-of-3,931) of their passes for only 198.6 yards per game (23,830 in 120 games), while intercepting 137 passes (1.1 pg).

2009: After five games, Texas is allowing just 186.8 passing yards per game (35th NCAA), a 52.9% completion rate and a 96.0 pass efficiency rating (14th NCAA). UT opened the season by holding ULM's quarterback to 14-of-30 passing (46.7%) for 197 yards, while intercepting one pass and breaking up eight. If you subtract their long completion of 75 yards, the Horns allowed just 122 yards passing on 29 attempts (4.2 yards per attempt). At Wyoming, the Horns gave up 188 passing yards, including just 58 in the first half, on 23-of-50 (46.0%) for an average of 3.8 yards per attempt. Wyoming's longest pass play went for 14 yards and the Horns broke up five passes. The Horns allowed just 44 yards passing on 9-of-26 (34.6%) against UTEP. The 44 yards passing are the fewest given up by a Texas defense since the Rice game in 2003. Texas gave up just 1.7 yards per attempt and intercepted four passes, the most in a game since the 2007 Baylor game. The Texas defense followed that by allowing just 85 yards on 9-of-23 (39.1%) passing against Colorado, while picking off two passes and breaking up four others. Over the last two games, the Texas defense has allowed just 129 yards on 18-of-49 (36.7%), while intercepting six passes, for a 47.8 passer rating.

2008: The Texas secondary had to replace three of its four starters from 2007 and it did so with a senior, a junior and four underclassmen, including two true freshmen. Overall, the Horns had eight members of its secondary see significant action. UT gave up 259.4 yards per game, but held opponents to a 124.2 passer rating, which ranked second in the Big 12. The Horns held five teams to 220 yards passing or less. In addition, on 69 attempts, the Horns' defense only allowed 13 conversions of third down and 10 or more (18.8%).

2007: UT allowed 277.8 yards passing per game, held opponents to a 127.5 passer rating and intercepted 17 passes on the season. Marcus Griffin led the team in tackles (99) and INTs (five), while Ryan Palmer (80 tackles, 14 PBU) and Brandon Foster (71 tackles, four INTs, 12 PBU) finished second and third on the team in tackles.

2006: The 2006 campaign saw Aaron Ross win the Thorpe Award as the nation's top defensive back. It marked the second consecutive season that a Longhorn won the award after Michael Huff did so in 2005. Ross' six INTs helped UT total 13 for the season, and he also finished second nationally with 25 passes defended. Michael Griffin led the team in tackles for the second consecutive year and, along with Ross, earned All-America and first-team All-Big 12 honors.

2005: UT finished eighth nationally in pass defense (172.0 ypg). The Horns also finished fourth nationally in pass efficiency defense (96.7 rating) that year. Opponents averaged only 5.13 yards per pass attempt, which led the nation, and threw for only 10 TDs compared to UT's 11 INTs. In 13 games, Texas allowed only two teams, Texas Tech and USC, to throw for over 200 yards. Both of those teams finished in the top five nationally in passing offense.

Prior to 2005: The Horns intercepted 13 passes and ranked 31st nationally in pass efficiency defense (114.3 rating) in 2004. Texas allowed opponents to complete just 167-of-354 passes (47.2%/third NCAA) for 2,305 yards (177.3 ypg/ninth NCAA) and ranked 18th nationally in pass efficiency defense (106.5 rating) in 2003. UT's recent pass defense efforts continue a turnaround that started when Mack Brown took over the Longhorns' program in 1998. That year, UT was coming off a season that saw it rank 75th nationally in pass efficiency defense (132.7 rating). In just their third season (2000), UT led the nation in pass efficiency defense (88.3 rating). The Horns limited opponents to the second-lowest completion percentage in the nation (45.2%/171-of-378), 184.3 yards per game, 5.36 yards per pass attempt (second NCAA), while allowing just eight TD passes that season. The Horns put up comparable numbers in 2001, holding a schedule that featured several high-powered passing attacks to a Big 12-low 146.7 passing yards per game (third NCAA) and ranked fourth nationally in pass efficiency defense (88.0). Texas held its opponents to a NCAA-low 4.77 yards per attempt and just six TDs (t-2nd NCAA) in 2001. In 2002, Texas allowed opponents to complete just 192-of-400 passes (48.0%) for 2,147 yards (165.2 ypg/eighth NCAA). UT also ranked seventh nationally in pass efficiency defense (96.1 rating). Texas' 22 interceptions were tied for the fourth-most nationally and second-most in UT history. The Horns ranked 92nd nationally in pass efficiency defense (138.7 rating) in '98 and improved to 12th in '99 (101.6 rating) before leading the nation in 2000.

GROUND PATROL: Mack Brown and his staff inherited a ground defense that had ranked no better than 64th nationally in the five seasons prior to their arrival. In 12 seasons at Texas, they have turned that around dramatically. The Horns have limited 56 of their last 105 opponents (53.3%) to fewer than 100 yards rushing and allowed just twenty-eight 100-yard rushers in the last 132 games (21.2%). The Horns have been ranked in the top six in rush defense in each of the last three seasons and rank first nationally in 2009. During that span (44 games), UT has held opponents to just 75.6 yards per game (3,326 yards on 1,272 carries) and just 2.6 yards per carry. In addition, at home over the last three seasons (24 games), Texas has only allowed six teams to break the 100-yard plateau and has only allowed three individual 100-yard rushers. In true road games over the last four seasons (12 games), Texas has only allowed five teams to reach 100 yards rushing and just two individual 100-yard rushers. Texas has held its opponent under 50 yards rushing 38 times during the Mack Brown era.

2009: Over five games, Texas is allowing just 46.2 rushing yards per game (first NCAA) and just 1.6 yards per carry. In total, the Horns have allowed just 231 yards rushing, while tallying 251 yards in losses via tackles for loss and sacks. They have also given up just one rushing TD on the season, which is tied for third nationally. The Horns held Texas Tech to minus-6 yards rushing on 18 attempts. Tech gained just 51 yards and lost 57 on nine TFL. Against UTEP, the Horns gave up just nine yards on 25 carries for a 0.4 yards-per-carry average. Sixteen of the Miner's 25 carries went for two yards or less, including 10 that went for negative yardage. The Horns allowed 42 yards on 34 carries (1.2 ypc) against Colorado with 21 of the carries going for two yards or less. Over the last three games, the Texas defense has allowed just 45 yards on 77 carries (0.6 ypc) for a 15 yards-per-game average.

2008: Texas gave up just 83.5 yards rushing per game (third NCAA/first Big 12) and allowed just eight rushing TDs, which tied for eighth nationally and was 11 fewer than the next best Big 12 team. Overall, Texas gave up just 1,086 rushing yards on 356 carries (3.1 ypc) and forced its opponents into 522 lost yards on sacks and TFL. The Horns allowed only five teams to rush for over 100 yards and just three individual 100-yard rushers, while holding the other eight opponents to less than 50 yards rushing.

2007: Texas allowed just 93.4 yards per game to rank sixth nationally. The Horns held seven of their 13 opponents under 100 yards rushing and gave up just 2.9 yards per carry. Highlighting the season were games against No. 19 TCU (43 yards), Rice (-11 yards), Baylor (eight yards), Texas Tech (10 yards) and Arizona State (22 yards). All five games rank in UT's top 35 performances since 1990. In fact, the minus-11 yards by Rice were the fourth-fewest since 1990 and the fifth time UT has held an opponent to negative rushing yards in that span. All five occasions have come during the Mack Brown era.

2006: The Horns rush defense gave up just 61.2 yards per game in 2006 (third NCAA), turning in the best performance on school record since 1942 (57.5 ypg). They gave up only 795 yards rushing on 345 carries (2.3 ypc). UT allowed just two teams to rush for 100 yards and held six teams to 27 yards or less, including two games in which the opponent rushed for negative yards (Texas Tech, -13; Rice, -12). In addition, seven of UT's top 22 performances against the rush since 1990 came during the 2006 campaign.

2005: Texas allowed 130.9 ypg on the ground, 3.7 ypc and gave up only 15 rushing TDs, while holding nine of their 13 opponents to under 120 yards.

Prior to 2005: The Horns ranked 16th nationally in rushing defense (107.4 ypg) in 2004, allowing just 60.0 yards per game over the final six contests. UT held six foes to 70 (or fewer) yards rushing that season. After inheriting a unit that ranked 104th nationally and allowed 241.5 yards per game in 1997, Brown and company guided the Horns to the nation's 17th-best run defense (105.7 ypg) in 1999 and the 12th-best ground defense (94.0 ypg) in 2000. UT's 94.0 yards allowed rushing per game in 2000 was, at the time, the fewest allowed by a Longhorns' squad since 1977 (91.1 ypg). UT followed that effort up in 2001 by allowing a Big 12-low 89.5 rushing ypg (sixth NCAA) and just 2.8 yards per carry.

GUARDING THE END ZONE: Texas' defense has made it difficult for opponents to reach the end zone over the last 10 seasons. Since 2000, the Horns have allowed only 247 TDs in 120 games (2.1 TDs per game), which ranks fourth nationally. Miami has allowed the fewest TDs, giving up only 220. In 2009, the Horns' defense has allowed just seven TDs on 69 possessions (10.1%). UT's best season came in 2001, when the Horns' top-ranked unit gave up only 19 TDs. Texas has allowed 29 TDs or fewer in six of the last nine seasons. Conversely, Texas has scored at least 45 TDs in each of the last nine seasons, with a high of 81 scores in 2005. The Horns have scored 30 TDs in 2009 and 559 TDs over the 10-year span, averaging 4.7 TDs per game.

FORCING TURNOVERS: Texas' defense has forced 318 turnovers during the Mack Brown era (146 games/2.2 per game), while only giving up 245 turnovers for a plus-73 turnover margin. Overall, the Horns have averaged a plus-six turnover margin per season during Brown's tenure. The Horns are plus-3 in the turnover margin in 2009 having forced 14 turnovers (six fumbles/eight INTs), while giving up 11 (five fumbles/six INTs). Last season, Texas forced 16 turnovers (10 fumbles/six INTs), while giving up 14 (six fumbles/eight INTs). In 2007, Texas forced 27 turnovers (10 fumbles/17 INTs), while giving up 26 (seven fumbles/19 INTs). In 2006, UT forced 32 turnovers (19 fumbles/13 INTs), while only giving up 23 (14 fumbles/nine INTs), for a plus-nine margin (T-No. 13 NCAA). The 32 takeaways were tied for the sixth-most in the nation and the 19 fumble recoveries tied for the most nationally. In 2005, UT forced 27 turnovers (16 fumbles/11 INTs). Three of those 27 turnovers were returned or recovered for scores, and the 16 fumble recoveries ranked fourth nationally. The Horns finished the season with a plus-nine turnover margin. Texas had a plus-five turnover margin, forcing 23 turnovers (10 fumbles/13 INTs) and losing 18, in 2004. UT forced 29 turnovers (14 fumbles/15 INTs) in 2003. UT's attacking unit provided several big plays in forcing 35 turnovers (T-No. 12 NCAA) in '02. The Longhorns combined for 22 INTs (T-No. 4 NCAA) by eight different players and recovered 13 fumbles.

UNEXPECTED OFFENSE: Even though Texas' offense is one of the most potent in the country, it has received help from the rest of the team when it comes to scoring TDs. Since 1999, UT has scored 69 TDs via returns, turnovers and blocked kicks. The 69 scores during that stretch rank third nationally behind Virginia Tech (75) and Kansas State (71). UT has scored six non-offensive TDs in 2009 on 89 (ULM) and 91-yard (UTEP) kickoff returns by D.J. Monroe, 46 (Texas Tech) and 74-yard (Colorado) punt returns by Jordan Shipley, a 92-yard INT return by Earl Thomas (Colorado) and a three-yard blocked punt return by Ben Wells (Colorado). Texas posted five non-offensive TDs in 2008 behind two INT returns, a fumble return, a kickoff return and a punt return. In 2007, UT posted five non-offensive TDs on three INT returns, a fumble return and a kickoff return, which was UT's first since 2003. The Horns scored eight non-offensive TDs in 2006 with four coming off fumble recoveries, two from punt returns, one on an INT return and one on a blocked punt recovery in the end zone. In the nine-season stretch, Texas scored the most non-offensive TDs in 2003 (nine).

SCORING DEFENSE: Texas' defense has been a scoring machine since 1999. During that time, the defense has accounted for 252 points and scored in 37 of the 134 games (27.6%). UT got its first defensive score of 2009 thanks to a 92-yard INT return for a TD by Earl Thomas. The 92-yard return is tied for the second longest in UT history and is the longest since 1936. The Horns' defense has scored at least three TDs in nine of the last 10 seasons, led by the seven TDs scored in 2000. That defense tallied 46 points, which is the most over the nine-year stretch. The 2003 unit scored six TDs, while the 2006 unit scored five TDs.

SHORT DRIVES: The Texas defense has prevented its opponents from moving the chains on 36.3 percent of their drives over the last eight seasons (108 games). During that time, UT has forced 504 three-and-outs or better in 1,387 possessions. In 2009, the Horns have forced 28 three-and-outs or better on 70 possessions (40.0%) and are averaging 5.6 three-and-outs or better per game. In addition, the Horns have held opponents to two first downs or less on 53 of 70 drives (75.7%). UT opened against ULM by forcing five three-and-outs or better on 14 possessions, while holding the Warhawks to two first downs or less on 8-of-14 possessions. Texas forced seven three-and-outs or better on 15 Wyoming possessions and held them to two first downs or less on 10 of the drives. UT added three three-and-outs or better against Texas Tech and held them to two first downs or less on 9-of-13 drives. Texas didn't allow UTEP to gain more than one first down on any of its 15 drives and forced three-and-outs or better on eight of them. UT added five three-and-outs or better on 13 Colorado possessions and held them to two first downs or less on 11-of-13 drives. The Horns forced 44 three-and-outs or better on 152 possessions (.289) in 2008, averaging over three three-and-outs per game. In 2007, UT forced 52 three-and-outs or better on 168 possessions (.310). Texas forced 60 three-and-outs or better on 154 possessions (.390) in 2006. Previously, the Horns held foes to three-and-outs or better on 73-of-178 possessions (.438) in 2005, 46-of-153 possessions (.307) in 2004, 56-of-181 possessions (.309) in 2003, 73-of-176 possessions (.414) in 2002 and 73-of-165 possessions (.442) in 2001.

2009 SENIORITY: A group of 16 seniors, who have played in a combined 508 games (226 starts), are leading the 2009 Longhorns. That group has posted a 37-7 (.841) record. QB Colt McCoy (44 games/44 starts), WR Jordan Shipley (44 games/25 starts) and linemen Chris Hall (36 games/28 starts), Charlie Tanner (35 games/22 starts) and Adam Ulatoski (41 games/35 starts) return as starters on the offensive side of the ball, while CB Deon Beasley (36 games/11 starts), DT Lamarr Houston (40 games/23 starts), DE/LB Sergio Kindle (37 games/16 starts) and LB Roddrick Muckelroy (34 games/22 starts) lead the way for the defense. THE REAL MCCOY: Colt McCoy's 37-7 record as a starter ranks first on UT's all-time victories list ahead of Vince Young (30-2, 2003-05) and is five victories shy of tying Georgia's David Greene for the all-time NCAA wins record (42). With a victory against Colorado, McCoy passed Ohio State's Art Schlichter and tied USC's Matt Leinart on the all-time list. McCoy already holds 44 school records including 14 career, 12 single-season, five single-game, six freshman and seven miscellaneous marks. During his 44-game career, McCoy has completed 960-of-1,359 passes (70.6%) for 11,142 yards and 95 TDs (39 INTs) for a passer rating of 156.8. His 11,142 yards are 25th on the NCAA all-time list, his 95 TD passes are tied for 11th and his 70.6% career completion percentage would be an NCAA record, bettering Colt Brennan's (Hawaii) mark of 70.4%. McCoy's 960 completions, 1,359 attempts, 70.6 completion percentage, 11,142 yards, 95 TDs and 156.8 passer rating rank first on UT's all-time list and he is the first Longhorn to pass for more than 10,000 yards. He holds three of UT's top seven single-season marks for passing yardage (No. 1, 3,859, 2008; No. 3, 3,303, 2007; No. 7, 2,570, 2006). In combining his passing (95) and rushing (18) TDs, McCoy ranks 10th on the NCAA list and first on UT's TD responsible for list with 113, bettering Ricky Williams (76) and Vince Young (81). McCoy joined Major Applewhite as the only two Texas QBs to surpass 2,000 yards passing in three seasons and McCoy is only the fifth to record multiple seasons of at least 2,000 passing yards. He has thrown for at least 200 yards 34 times in 44 career games, which ranks first on UT's all-time list ahead of Applewhite, and has thrown for at least 300 yards 12 times, which is a UT record. In fact, McCoy has thrown for at least 300 yards in seven of his last 12 games. McCoy holds the school record for consecutive completions and consecutive completions in a game with 18 against No. 7 Oklahoma State (2008). He now holds nine of UT's top 13 consecutive-completion streaks. McCoy has produced 70 plays of 30 yards or more, 26 of 40 yards or more and 18 of 50 yards or more during his career. He has thrown a TD pass in 41 of 44 career games, at least two TD passes in 30 games, which is the most in UT history, and at least four TD passes in seven games. McCoy has thrown a TD pass in 22 consecutive games, which is the longest streak in school history and currently ranks second nationally. McCoy is the only quarterback in Texas history who has recorded three seasons of at least 20 TD passes. McCoy's 56 TDs over the last two seasons (22, 2007; 34, 2008) are the most in consecutive years, bettering his own mark of 51 (29, 2006; 22, 2007) and Chris Simms' total of 48 (22, 2001; 26, 2002). In addition, McCoy has rushed for 1,281 yards and 18 TDs on 352 carries (3.6 ypc) and has rushed and passed for a TD in the same game 13 times during his career. Overall, McCoy is UT's all-time leader in total offense and ranks 11th on the NCAA all-time list, having produced 12,423 yards (11,142p/1,281r) to better Vince Young's 9,167 total yards. McCoy holds three of the top seven single-season marks for total offense (No. 1, 4,420, 2008; No. 3, 3,795, 2007; No. 7, 2,740, 2006) and is the first player in UT history to record at least 2,500 total yards in three seasons. He has posted 24 games of at least 300 total yards, which is a UT record, and holds five of the top 15 total offense games in UT history.

MCCOY VS. OKLAHOMA:

When Texas takes the field in Dallas on Saturday, Colt McCoy will become just the third quarterback in school history to start four games in the AT&T Red River Rivalry, joining Peter Gardere (1989-92) and James Brown (1994-97). McCoy is currently 2-1 against the Sooners, making him one of 10 Texas quarterbacks to win two games against OU. McCoy was the winning QB in the rivalry as a freshman in 2006 (28-10) and a junior in 2008 (45-35). His lone loss came in 2007 (28-21) despite throwing Layne and Peter Gardere are the only Texas QBs to defeat Oklahoma at least three times. Layne won all three of his starts against Oklahoma (1944, '46-47), missing the 1945 game while serving in the Merchant Marines. Gardere is the only Texas QB to win four games against Oklahoma, doing so from 1989-92.

MCCOY'S CAREER HONORS: Colt McCoy, who is a three-time UT MVP and three-time bowl game Offensive MVP (Alamo '06, Holiday '07, Fiesta '08), has already filled the trophy case during his three seasons at Texas. As a junior in 2008, McCoy was named the Walter Camp Football Foundation Player of the Year, the Chevrolet Offensive Player of the Year, the Archie Griffin Award winner and was a consensus first-team All-American.

In addition, he was the runner-up for the Heisman Trophy, a finalist for the Maxwell Award (college player of the year), Davey O'Brien Award (nation's top quarterback) and Manning Award (nation's top quarterback) and was tabbed the Big 12 Offensive Player of the Year by The Associated Press. McCoy also picked up numerous weekly awards during his junior campaign, being named the Walter Camp Football Foundation National Offensive Player of the Week once, the Davey O'Brien National Quarterback of the Week three times and Big 12 Player of the Week three times. As a freshman in 2006, McCoy was a semifinalist for the Davey O'Brien Award (nation's top QB) and was named The Sporting News and Touchdown Club of Columbus National Freshman of the Year. He also was named the Big 12 Freshman of the Year, becoming the sixth UT player to win that honor. McCoy was twice named the Cingular All-America Player of the Week and earned the Walter Camp Player of the Week and Master Coaches Survey Game Ball once.

GOOD WORK: Colt McCoy was named to the 2008 Allstate AFCA Good Works Team. McCoy was one of just 11 players selected from the entire Football Bowl Subdivision (FBS), who were honored for the embodiment of the true spirit of "teamwork" and "giving back" through selfless contributions and commendable acts of kindness. McCoy became the sixth Longhorn to be selected to the team in its 17-year history, following Vince Young in 2005, Ricky Williams in 1998, Tyson King in 1996, Tony Brackens in 1995 and Robert Reed in 1994. Among his many community service activities, McCoy spent his 2008 and '09 Spring Breaks on missions to Peru, where he volunteered at a weeklong Christian Sports camp that hosted less fortunate children in the areas of rainforests on the Amazon. He also earned a spot on the Big 12 Good Works team in 2007. In 2009, McCoy is a finalist for the Lowe's Senior CLASS Award, which honors football student-athletes who excel both on and off the field. To be eligible for the award, a student-athlete must be classified as an NCAA Division I senior in the Football Bowl Subdivision and have notable achievements in four areas of excellence – classroom, character, community and competition.

MCCOY'S ACADEMIC HONORS: Colt McCoy has been selected as a semifinalist for the 2009 William V. Campbell Trophy, formerly known as the Draddy Trophy. Boasting better than a 3.0 GPA, McCoy is MCCOY VS. THE TOP 25: Colt McCoy is 8-3 versus ranked opponents. His only losses came to No. 1 Ohio State in just the second start of his career, to No. 10 Oklahoma in 2007 and at No. 6 Texas Tech in 2008. In the 11 games, McCoy has gone 276-of-388 (71.1%) for 2,932 yards and 18 TDs (seven INTs) for a passer rating of 146.3. He has also rushed for 219 yards and five TDs. McCoy is averaging 286.5 total yards and two TDs per game. In 2008, McCoy led Texas to a 4-1 record against Top 11 teams by going 156-of-204 (76.5%) for 1,713 yards and nine TDs (three INTs) for a passer rating of 158.6, while adding 96 yards and four TDs on the ground.

STAT FACT

Colt McCoy is the nation's active leader in passing yards (11,142), TD passes (95) and completion percentage (70.6%).

SENIOR SENSATION: Senior QB Colt McCoy has continued to build off his stellar 2008 season. In five games this season, McCoy has gone 135-of-184 (73.4%) for 1,410 yards and 10 TDs for a 149.2 passer rating, while rushing for another 58 yards and a TD. He is averaging 293.6 total yards per game (12th NCAA). McCoy has posted at least 300 yards of total offense in three of five games and passed for at least 300 yards in two. He has led 60 drives with Texas scoring on 31 of them (51.7%/22 TDs/nine FGs).

ULM: Despite playing just one snap into the fourth quarter, McCoy went 21-of-29 (72.4%) for 317 yards and two TDs. He connected on the second-longest pass play of his career when he hit Jordan Shipley for a 78-yard TD.

at WYOMING: McCoy went 30-of-47 (63.8%) for 337 yards and three TDs, while rushing for another TD. His 381 total yards rank 15th on UT's all-time list.

TEXAS TECH: McCoy went 24-of-34 (70.6%) for 205 yards and a TD. In the second half, McCoy engineered scoring drives on four of UT's six possessions, including consecutive TD drives to open the third quarter. He went 15-of-18 (83.3%) for 135 yards and a TD over that span.

UTEP: Despite playing just one series into the second half, McCoy went 28-of-35 (80.0%) for 286 yards and three TDs. With 15 rushing yards, McCoy posted 301 yards of total offense. In the second quarter alone, McCoy was 15-of-19 (78.9%) for 152 yards and two TDs. Texas scored on eight of his 10 drives (five TDs/three FGs).

COLORADO: McCoy threw for 265 yards and a TD on 32-of-39 passing (82.1%). He completed passes to seven different receivers with six of them having more than one reception.

ONE IF BY LAND, ONE IF BY AIR:

Colt McCoy was one of eight QBs nationally who led his team in both rushing and passing in 2008. One of 12 players nationally to throw for 3,500 yards (3,859) in 2008, McCoy also rushed for a team-high 561 yards (11 TDs). He was joined by Chase Clement (Rice) as the only players in the country to pass for at least 3,500 yards and rush for more than 500. McCoy was just the second quarterback since Bobby Layne in 1946 to lead the Horns in both rushing and passing with Vince Young being the other in 2005.

CRUNCH TIME: In Texas' three biggest games of 2008, against No. 1 Oklahoma in Dallas, at No. 6 Texas Tech and versus No. 10 Ohio State in the Fiesta Bowl, Colt McCoy's late game heroics were at their finest. In six late game drives in those three games, McCoy directed the Longhorns to TDs on all six. On those six TD drives, McCoy completed 21-of-27 passes for 301 yards and three TDs (no interceptions). With UT trailing 35-30 with 11:42 left in the game against the Sooners, McCoy directed two TD drives to put the Horns on top for a 45-35 victory. He completed 6-of-7 passes for 67 yards on those two drives with the only miss being a dropped pass in the end zone by UT's fullback. At Texas Tech, Texas trailed 29-13 with 2:38 left in the third quarter. In a hostile environment on the road, McCoy directed three straight scoring drives to put the Horns up 33-32 with 1:29 left, a game UT eventually lost 39-33. On those three drives, McCoy completed 8-of-10 passes for 173 yards and two TDs. Then, with Texas trailing 21-17 with 1:58 remaining against Ohio State, McCoy went 7-of-10 for 76 yards, including a 26-yard TD pass with 16 seconds left, to give the Horns a 24-21 victory.

IN THE ZONE: Colt McCoy was at his best in critical situations in 2008. McCoy completed 42-of-53 passes (79.2%) for 331 yards and 20 TDs (two INTs) in the red zone. And, those numbers were equally good against the nation's best. In games against Top 25 opponents, McCoy completed 16-of-20 passes (80.0%) for 108 yards and five TDs (one INT) in the red zone. So far in 2009, McCoy is 19-of-25 (76.0%) for 121 yards and four TDs (no INTs), while adding a rushing TD, in the red zone.

HOME COOKING: Colt McCoy has been in total control of the offense over the last two seasons at Darrell K Royal-Texas Memorial Stadium/Jamail Field. In 11 home games since the start of the 2008 season, McCoy has gone 281-of-350 (80.3%) for 3,148 yards and 28 TDs (eight INTs) for a 177.7 passer rating. He's thrown at least two TD passes in nine of the 11 games and for at least 300 yards six times. In the four home games this season, McCoy is 105-of-137 (76.6%) for 1,073 yards and seven TDs for a 152.0 rating. In Texas' seven home games of 2008, McCoy went 176-of-213 (82.6%) for 2,075 yards and 21 TDs (three INTs) for a 194.2 passer rating. In addition, he rushed 69 times for 404 yards (5.9 ypc) and nine TDs. McCoy averaged 8.8 yards per play and posted 30 total TDs compared to just 37 incomplete passes.

ON A ROLL: Over his last 26 games, Colt McCoy has gone 626-of-855 (73.2%) for 7,321 yards and 58 TDs for a passer rating of 162.1, while rushing for 1,009 yards and 16 TDs. During that span, he is averaging 320.4 yards of total offense and three TDs per game. Overall, McCoy has thrown for at least 275 yards 16 times and had five games with at least four TD passes. He also has posted at least 50 yards rushing in nine games, including two 100-yard games (Oklahoma St., 106, 2007; FAU, 103, 2008).

MCCOY'S GROUND GAME: Colt McCoy is the fifth QB in Longhorn history to rush for 1,000 yards. He has posted 1,281 yards and 18 TDs on 352 carries (3.6 ypc) during his 44-game career, but the bulk of that yardage has come during the last three seasons. Since the beginning of 2007, McCoy has posted 1,111 yards and 16 TDs on 284 carries (3.9 ypc). In 2008 alone, McCoy tallied 561 yards and 11 TDs on 136 carries (4.1 ypc). The 561 yards rushing were the most by a Texas QB other than Vince Young since 1975. In 2007, McCoy finished second on the team in rushing with 492 yards, but his production was even better if you figure his totals purely as a runner (minus sack yardage). On 88 rushes, McCoy gained 665 yards (7.6 ypc), scored four TDs and posted 37 first downs. His 7.5 ypc average would have ranked him third nationally. Excluding sacks, McCoy has rushed for at least 50 yards in 10 of the last 16 games. He produced his first career 100-yard rushing game with 106 at Oklahoma State in 2007 and his 14-yard scramble on the final drive set up Texas' 40-yard game-winning field goal. McCoy added his second career 100-yard game in the 2008 season opener against FAU with 106 yards on 12 carries (8.6 ypc). During his career, McCoy has tallied 57 runs of at least 10 yards, 17 runs of at least 20 yards and four of at least 30 yards during his career.

MCCOY'S 2008 REWIND: Already entrenched in the record books after two seasons, Colt McCoy was even better as a junior. McCoy was one of just two QBs nationally who posted over 3,500 yards passing and 500 yards rushing. He also rushed and passed for a TD in eight games and became the first Longhorn to rush and pass for a TD in three of the first four games of a season. For the year, McCoy went 332-of-433 (76.7%) for 3,859 yards and 34 TDs, with eight INTs, for a passer rating of 173.8. His 76.7 completion percentage set an NCAA record, bettering Daunte Culpepper's mark (73.6%, 296-of-402, 1998). In addition, McCoy's 173.8 passer rating ranked third nationally and set a UT single-season record. His 3,859 passing yards, 34 TDs and 332 completions also are UT single-season records. He threw for at least 300 yards six times, which broke Major Applewhite's single-season record of five (1999). In addition, McCoy led the team in rushing with 561 yards and 11 TDs on 136 carries (4.1 ypc). Overall, McCoy posted a single-season school record with 4,420 yards of total offense (3,859p/561r), bettering Vince Young's 4,086 total yards in 2005, and averaged 7.8 yards per play and 340.0 total yards per game, which ranked fifth nationally. His 4,420 total yards were more than 49 teams in the FBS. He also was responsible for 21.1 points per game, which ranked sixth nationally. His 45 total TDs were more than 75 teams in the FBS.

FAU: In Texas' 52-10 victory over FAU, McCoy threw for 222 yards and three TDs, while notching his second career 100-yard rushing game with 103 yards on 12 carries (8.6 ypc). He joined Vince Young as the only players in UT history to pass for 200 or more yards and rush for 100 or more yards in a game more than once in a career. McCoy also accomplished the feat with 282 passing yards and 106 rushing yards against Oklahoma State in 2007. McCoy opened the season by completing his first 13 passes, which set a single-game record (previous record: Vince Young, 12, vs. Oklahoma St., 2004), on his way to completing 24-of-29 passes (82.8%). He shared Big 12 Player of the Week honors for his efforts.

at UTEP: McCoy completed 20-of-29 passes (70.0%) for 282 yards and four TDs. He started fast against the Miners, completing 14-of-16 (87.5%) for 187 yards and three TDs in the first half. It marked the fifth time in his career that he threw for at least four TDs in a game.

RICE: McCoy threw four TD passes, which moved him into first on UT's career TD passes list with 62. He went 19-of-23 (82.6%), including 13 consecutive completions to tie the single-game record he set against FAU, for 329 yards (no INTs). McCoy's 260.2 passer rating for the game was the highest of his career. In the first half alone, McCoy went 15-of-18 (83.3%) for 269 yards and two TDs. The 269 first-half yards tied for the third-highest first-half total in UT history. In addition, McCoy's 175 passing yards in the second quarter are the eighth-most for an individual quarter in Texas history. McCoy also rushed for 83 yards and a TD on eight carries (10.4 ypc). His 412 total yards were a career high and rank fourth on UT's single-game list.

ARKANSAS: McCoy set a then-personal best in completion percentage (17-of-19, 89.5%), while helping UT set a school record in single-game completion percentage (21-of-23, 91.3%). He threw for 185 yards and three TDs, while rushing for 84 yards and two TDs on nine carries (9.3 ypc). McCoy produced 180 (100p/80r) of his 269 total yards and three of his five TDs in the first half, while helping UT take a 31-3 lead.

at COLORADO: McCoy went 23-of-30 (76.7%) for 262 yards and two TDs to go along with 39 yards rushing. With 301 total yards, it marked the third time this season McCoy has eclipsed the 300-yard mark. He also moved into second place on UT's all-time total offense list with 8,132 yards (7,153p/979r), trailing only Vince Young's 9,167 yards (6,040p/3,127r).

NO. 1 OKLAHOMA: McCoy posted a 155.9 passer rating against an Oklahoma defense that entered the game leading the nation in pass efficiency defense (85.6 rating) after going 28-of-35 (80.0%) for 277 yards and a TD (no INTs). He also rushed for 31 yards to give him 308 total yards, his second consecutive game of at least 300 total yards. In addition, McCoy was 7-of-10 for 89 yards and a TD on third down.

NO. 11 MISSOURI: McCoy set a UT record by completing 90.6 percent of his passes (29-of-32), while throwing for 337 yards, which was just nine shy of his career mark, and two TDs. He also rushed for 23 yards and two scores. McCoy led UT on five consecutive TD drives in a first half that saw him go 18-of-20 for 230 yards and two TDs. In the second quarter alone, McCoy was 9-of-9 for 131 yards and two TDs. In addition, McCoy went on to complete 17 straight passes to set a new UT mark, breaking the previous mark of 15 he shared with Vince Young.

NO. 7 OKLAHOMA STATE: McCoy set UT single-game records by completing 18 straight passes at one point and 38 passes overall, while establishing career highs in yards (391) and total offense (432). Overall, McCoy was 38-of-45 (84.4%) for 391 yards and two TDs, while rushing for 41 yards and a TD on 10 carries (4.1 ypc). The 391 passing yards are the fifth most in UT history and the 432 total yards are fourth-best on UT record. His 268 passing yards in the first half rank sixth on UT's all-time list. In the second quarter alone, McCoy was 14-of-14 for 160 yards and a TD.

NO. 6 TEXAS TECH: Despite starting slow, McCoy finished 20-of-34 for 294 yards and two TDs (one INT). After Texas fell behind 22-6 at the half, McCoy went 13-of-19 for 216 yards and two TDs in the second half and led Texas to TDs on its last three possessions, giving UT its first lead of the game, 33-32, with just 1:29 left to play. He was 5-of-6 for 128 yards and a TD as the Horns registered 14 fourth-quarter points.

BAYLOR: McCoy threw for 300 yards and five TDs on 26-of-37 passing (70.3%). It was just the fourth time in UT history a QB has thrown for at least five TDs in a game and McCoy is the only QB to do it twice. In addition, McCoy completed his first eight passes of the second half and was 9-of-10 for 133 yards through the first 18 minutes after halftime, helping the Horns go on a 14-0 run before going to the sidelines with the game in hand.

at KANSAS: McCoy went 23-of-34 (70.6%) for 255 yards and two TDs (no INTs), while rushing for 78 yards and a score on 16 carries (4.9 ypc), to post 33 yards of total offense. With Texas holding a 14-0 halftime lead, McCoy led the Horns to TDs on three of their four third-quarter drives. During the quarter, McCoy went 8-of-12 for 106 yards and two TDs, while rushing for 52 yards.

TEXAS A&M: McCoy posted 360 yards of total offense and notched a rushing and passing TD in the same game for the seventh time in 2008. He went 23-of-28 (82.1%) for 311 yards and two TDs, while rushing for 49 yards and two scores on 11 carries in just over three quarters of work. McCoy led UT to TDs on 6-of-8 drives, including three of at least 78 yards, and helped UT convert 14-of-17 third downs.

NO. 10 OHIO STATE: McCoy tallied career highs in completions (41), attempts (58) and passing yards (414) and was named Offensive MVP of the 2009 Fiesta Bowl. The 41 completions and 58 attempts set school and BCS records and the 414 passing yards rank second in BCS history and third overall on UT's all-time list. McCoy posted two passing TDs and a rushing TD and went 7-of-10 for 76 yards, including a 26-yard TD pass with 16 seconds left, on UT's game-winning drive.

SOPHOMORE SUCCESS: After one of the most productive seasons by a QB in UT history in 2006, Colt McCoy returned in 2007 to earn both team and Holiday Bowl MVP honors. For the season, McCoy went 276-of-424 (65.1%) for 3,303 yards (No. 3 on UT's single-season list) and 22 TDs (T-No. 5 on UT's single-season list) for a passer rating of 139.2 (24th NCAA). McCoy's 276 completions rank second on UT's single-season list, while his 424 attempts stand third. McCoy also was the team's second-leading rusher with 492 yards, including at least 40 yards rushing in six of the last seven games and his first career 100-yard rushing game (106 at Oklahoma State). He amassed 3,795 total yards on the season (22nd NCAA/No. 3 on UT's single-season list). He passed for at least 200 yards 11 times and posted at least 300 yards of total offense six times. He matched UT's all-time record by reaching the 1,000-yard plateau after the first four games of 2007 and tied for second on UT's all-time list by reaching 2,000 yards passing after eight games.

MCCOY'S 2007 HIGHLIGHTS

NO. 19 TCU: Colt McCoy helped defeat a ranked opponent for the third time in his career by going 25-of-38 (65.8%) for 239 yards and a TD.

DID YOU KNOW?

Colt McCoy has thrown a touchdown pass in 41 of his 44 starts and at least two TD passes in 30.

at UCF: McCoy completed a UT single-game record 32 passes and tied the school record in attempts with 47.

RICE: McCoy posted his first 300-yard game of the season with 333 yards on 20-of-29 passing (69.0%) and three TDs (no INTs). His 295 yards passing in the first half are the second-most in a half on UT record.

vs. NO. 10 OKLAHOMA: McCoy threw for 324 yards and two TDs. His 324 yards passing were the second-most ever by a Longhorn QB in a Red River Rivalry game. Major Applewhite's 328 yards in 1999 rank first.

at IOWA STATE: McCoy went 23-of-29 (79.3%) for 298 yards and four TDs. Combined with his 50 yards rushing, McCoy produced 348 yards of total offense, the third-best output of his career. He also had a 44-yard TD run, which is the longest of his career.

at BAYLOR: McCoy posted 337 yards of total offense behind 293 yards passing and 44 yards rushing.

NEBRASKA: McCoy notched 236 yards of total offense behind 55 yards rushing in helping Texas to a come-from-behind 28-25 victory.

at OKLAHOMA STATE: McCoy set a career high with 388 total yards, which is the 11th best total in school history. He threw for 282 yards and a TD on 20-of-28 passing (71.4%) and notched his first career 100-yard rushing game with 106 yards on 16 carries (6.6 ypc). While helping Texas score 24-unanswered points in the fourth quarter, McCoy went 8-of-9 for 145 yards and rushed for 38 yards.

TEXAS TECH: McCoy notched six TDs and 319 total yards by going 21-of-30 (70.0%) for 268 yards and four TDs, while rushing for 51 yards and two TDs. The six TDs were just one shy of the UT single-game record (seven, Clyde Littlefield, 1915).

vs. NO. 12 ARIZONA STATE: McCoy notched his second bowl Offensive MVP honor after completing 21-of-31 passes (67.7%) for 174 yards and a TD and rushing for 84 yards and a TD on 16 carries (5.2 ypc) in a 52-34 Holiday Bowl victory.

McCoy opened the season by throwing for 200 yards in only one of the first six games, but finished by exceeding the 200-yard mark in five of the final seven games, including two games over 300 yards. The two games he didn't throw for 200 yards over that stretch were the Kansas State and Texas A&M games, when he was suffering from an injury. During 2006, McCoy had a streak of 10-straight games with a TD pass, which is the second-longest in UT history. He threw a TD pass in 11 of 13 games and two TDs in 10 of 13. He also spread the ball around, completing passes to 12 different receivers and TD passes to nine different players. In addition, McCoy tied the then-UT record for consecutive completions at 15 after completing the final four passes against Oklahoma state, his only four attempts at Kansas State and the first seven passes versus Texas A&M. In total, McCoy tallied a UT freshman record 2,740 yards of total offense (No. 7 on UT's single-season list). He became UT's first freshman QB to win a season opener since Bobby Layne in 1944.

MCCOY'S 2006 HIGHLIGHTS

IOWA STATE: Colt McCoy threw for 200 yards for the first time in his career when he threw for 212 yards and two TDs.

BAYLOR: McCoy's season took off when he threw a UT single-game record six TD passes. The six TDs also tied the NCAA mark for TD passes by a freshman in a game. He ended the game going 21-of-32 (65.6%) for 275 yards, while rushing for another 26. The 301 yards of total offense rank seventh on UT's freshman list. He was named the Cingular All-America Player of the Week for his performance.

at NEBRASKA: McCoy went 25-of-39 (64.1%) for 220 yards, two TDs and no INTs in the snow. He helped the Horns come back twice from fourth-quarter deficits to win that game.

at TEXAS TECH: McCoy went 21-of-31 (67.7%) for 256 yards and four TDs, while rushing for 68 yards on nine carries (7.6 ypc) in helping UT come back from a 21-point deficit, which is tied for the second-largest comeback in UT history. As a result, McCoy earned the Cingular All-America Player of the Week, the Walter Camp Player of the Week and the Master Coaches Survey Game Ball.

OKLAHOMA STATE: McCoy set a career high with 346 yards on 23-of-29 (79.3%) passing. His 352 yards of total offense was the second-best effort by a freshman in UT history.

vs. IOWA: McCoy sustained a pinched nerve in his neck on the first drive, a TD drive, at Kansas State that sidelined him for that game. That injury slowed him against Texas A&M, but he returned to form, capping his rookie campaign by earning Offensive MVP honors at the Alamo Bowl. He completed 26-of-40 passes (65.0%) for 308 yards and two TDs in leading the Horns to a 26-24 come-from-behind victory.

RECORD-BREAKING FRESHMAN

SEASON: As a freshman in 2006, Colt McCoy threw 29 TD passes, which set the UT single-season mark, breaking the record of 26 shared by Chris Simms (2002) and Vince Young (2005). He also tied the then-NCAA freshman record held by Nevada's David Neill (1998). Against Baylor in 2006, McCoy threw six TD passes, which set the UT record for TD passes in a game and tied the NCAA freshman mark. The six TD throws eclipsed the previous mark of five set by James Brown (at Baylor, 1994) and matched by Chris Simms (at Oklahoma State, 2001). McCoy's 2,570 yards passing as a freshman rank first on UT's single-season freshman list and seventh on the overall single-season list. His 2,740 yards of total offense also rank first on UT's freshman single-season list and seventh on the overall single-season list. He produced 352 yards of total offense against Oklahoma State in 2006, which ranks as the second-highest single-game total by a freshman in UT history. He also posted 324 yards of total offense at Texas Tech (No. 6 on UT's freshman single-game total offense list) and 301 yards of total offense against Baylor (No. 8 on UT's freshman single-game total offense list). His 72-yard TD pass to Jamaal Charles in the 2006 Alamo Bowl is the fourth-longest pass play by a freshman in UT history, while his 62-yard

TD pass to Billy Pittman against Baylor ranks seventh. He also threw a 50-yard TD pass to Limas Sweed against Baylor to become just the second freshman QB, along with Major Applewhite, to throw two TD passes of 50 or more yards in the same game. McCoy had a streak of 10-straight games with a TD pass, which is the third-longest in UT history.

COMEBACK KID: Over the past few seasons, Texas has developed a never-say-die attitude that has helped pull off comebacks on several occasions. Much like his mentor Vince Young, who engineered six fourth-quarter comebacks and eight second-half comebacks, Colt McCoy has proven that he is capable of leading the Horns when they are behind. He has already posted 10 second-half comebacks, including seven fourth-quarter comebacks, during his career.

vs. NO. 14 OKLAHOMA (2006): The first comeback of McCoy's career came after Texas trailed 10-7 at halftime, but the Horns stormed back for a 28-10 victory. McCoy opened the second half by going 5-of-5 passing for 66 yards and two TDs, while rushing for 23 yards on two scoring drives that put away the Sooners.

vs. BAYLOR (2006): Texas fell behind 10-0 after the first quarter before McCoy hit stride. He racked up 268 yards and a UT-record six TD passes on 19-of-26 passing (73.1%) over the final three quarters to lead UT to a 63-31 victory.

at NO. 17 NEBRASKA (2006): McCoy brought the Horns back in his first test on the road. With Nebraska leading 20-19, Texas got the ball back at the Nebraska 44-yard line with 2:17 to play. McCoy methodically moved the Horns to the Nebraska five before UT kicked a field goal with 23 seconds left to take the lead for good, 22-20.

at TEXAS TECH (2006): Texas Tech jumped out to a 21-0 lead after the first quarter and 31-21 lead at the half, but McCoy led Texas to a 35-31 victory. The 21-point comeback is tied for the second-largest comeback in school history. After getting down 21-0, McCoy went 15-of-23 for 203 yards and four TDs, while rushing for 74 yards over the final three quarters.

vs. IOWA (2006): McCoy notched his fifth comeback of the 2006 season in the Alamo Bowl. Iowa grabbed the lead at 21-20 late in the third quarter, but, on the ensuing possession, McCoy drove Texas 72 yards in 11 plays for the go-ahead and game-winning score as UT would hold on for the 26-24 victory.

NO. 19 TCU (2007): The Horns trailed 10-0 at the half, but McCoy led Texas on a seven-play, 60-yard TD drive to open the second half. For the half, McCoy went 12-of-16 (75.0%) for 139 yards and a TD and led Texas on five scoring drives as UT defeated the Horned Frogs, 34-13.

at UCF (2007): McCoy added his third fourth-quarter comeback, leading Texas to 12 straight points (TD, two FGs) on three consecutive drives after the Horns fell behind 24-23. On those three drives, McCoy went 7-of-10 for 82 yards, while adding 12 yards rushing.

NEBRASKA (2007): After falling behind 17-3 in the third quarter (17-9 entering the fourth quarter), McCoy guided a Texas offense that produced 336 total yards and 25 points in the second half and helped the Horns go on to win, 28-25.

at OKLAHOMA STATE (2007): McCoy notched his second-consecutive fourth-quarter comeback in leading Texas from a 35-14 deficit entering the final stanza. While helping Texas score 24-unanswered points to win the game, 38-35, McCoy went 8-of-9, including eight straight completions, for 145 yards and rushed for 38 yards, while leading the Horns to 311 yards of total offense. His 14-yard scramble on the final drive set up Texas' 40-yard game-winning field goal.

vs. NO. 1 OKLAHOMA (2008): McCoy helped Texas erase two 11-point deficits in the first half and brought the Horns to within one, 21-20, at halftime. OU went up 28-20 before McCoy helped Texas score 10 straight points to take a 30-28 lead late in the third quarter. OU responded with a vs. NO. 10 OHIO STATE (2008): With Texas trailing 21-17 with 1:58 remaining, McCoy went 7-of-10 for 76 yards, including a 26-yard TD pass with 16 seconds left, to give the Horns a 24-21 victory. For the game, McCoy tallied career highs in completions (41), attempts (58) and passing yards (414) and was named Offensive MVP. The 41 completions and 58 attempts set school and BCS records and the 414 passing yards rank second in BCS history and third overall on UT's all-time list.

SPREADING THE WEALTH: Colt McCoy has excelled in keeping his entire receiving corps involved in UT's offensive attack. Over five games of 2009, McCoy has completed passes to 10 different receivers and TD passes to four different players. In addition, he has completed passes of at least 20 yards to four different receivers. Last season, McCoy completed passes to 12 different receivers and TD passes to seven different receivers. The Horns had two players catch at least 80 passes and post at least 1,000 yards for the first time in school history, and for the second consecutive season, had three players post at least 40 receptions and at least 500 yards. In addition, McCoy produced completions of at least 30 yards to five receivers. In 2007, McCoy hit 12 different receivers and completed TD passes to seven pass catchers. The Longhorns had three players with 40 or more receptions in the same season for the first time in school history. The Horns also had three players with 500 or more receiving yards for just the third time in school history. In addition, McCoy completed passes of at least 50 yards to four different players.

FAMILIAR TARGET: Since Colt McCoy and Jordan Shipley began seeing the field at the same time, the duo has become one of the most prolific tandems in UT history. Of Shipley's 179 career catches, McCoy has been the quarterback for 174 of them. Their 174 connections rank second on UT's QB-to-WR combo chart. McCoy-to-Quan Cosby ranks first all-time with 191 connections (2006-08), while Chris Simms-to-Roy Williams (131, 2000-02) ranks third. In addition, McCoy has been the QB on 22 of Shipley's 23 TD receptions.

BELITNIKOFF AWARD CANDIDATE

JORDAN SHIPLEY: Senior Jordan Shipley is one of the most versatile and dangerous pass catchers in the nation. Shipley has recorded 179 receptions (No. 3 on UT's all-time list) for 2,289 yards (No. 5 on UT's all-time list) and 23 TDs (No. 2 on UT's all-time list) during his 44-game career (26 starts). He's tallied nine games with at least eight catches and six 100-yard receiving games during his career. In addition, Shipley has produced four games with at least 11 receptions (there are only nine on UT record). Shipley has caught a TD pass in 14 of his last 21 games. He's scored TDs in four of the five games this season with three receiving TDs and two punt return TDs. Last season, he scored a TD in 10 of 13 games with a 45-yard punt return for a TD at No. 6 Texas Tech accounting for a score in one of the games he didn't catch a TD pass. With three punt return TDs and a kick-off return for a TD (96 yards vs. Oklahoma, 2008), Shipley holds the UT record for return TDs with four and is just the fourth Longhorn to return a kickoff and a punt for a TD during a career. His three career punt return TDs are tied for first on UT's all-time list with Aaron Ross (2003-06) and Jim Moore (1971-73). Shipley averages 16.5 yards per punt return (20-for-329) and 25.4 yards per kickoff return (17-for-432) during his career. He also serves as UT's holder.

2009: Over five games, Shipley has caught 47 passes for 583 yards (12.4 ypc) and three TDs. His 9.4 receptions per game are tied for second nationally and his 116.6 receiving yards per game rank seventh. He already has three 100-yard receiving games this season, which matches his career total coming into the season. In addition to his receiving skills, Shipley has returned 14 punts for 265 yards and two TDs. His 18.9 ypr average ranks fourth nationally and his 177.2 all-purpose yards per game rank ninth. Shipley has posted at least 100 all-purpose yards in each game this season. He opened the year by recording eight receptions for 180 yards (22.5 ypc) and a TD against ULM. The 180 receiving yards were the most ever by a UT receiver in an opener and tied for seventh on UT's single-game list. It also was a career high for Shipley and was the fourth-most receiving yards nationally during the opening weekend. Of Shipley's 180 yards, 164 came in the first half, which ranks third on UT's first-half list. At Wyoming, Shipley added seven catches for 61 yards. Against Texas Tech, Shipley posted 11 catches for 73 yards and returned a punt 46 yards for a TD, the second straight year he has returned a punt for a TD against the Red Raiders. Shipley added 10 catches for 122 yards and a TD against UTEP. He posted nine of the catches and 111 of the yards in the first half and only played one series in the second half. He also returned three punts for 73 yards (24.3 ypr) against the Miners. Shipley added a TD reception and a punt return TD against Colorado. He finished the game with 11 catches for 147 yards and a TD to go along with a 74-yard punt return TD. With 103 yards in the first half, it marked the second consecutive game that Shipley has gone over 100 yards in the opening 30 minutes. In addition, his 273 all-purpose yards were a career high. Shipley has caught at least 10 passes in each of the last three games, becoming the first Longhorn in school history to accomplish the feat. His 32 receptions in the last three games are two shy of his own school record of 34 set against Oklahoma (11), Missouri (8) and Oklahoma State (15) last season.

game list and are the fourth-most ever recorded in a half at UT. Shipley had a career day in the Red River Rivalry against No. 1 Oklahoma. His 11 catches were a Red River Rivalry record and a career high at the time. He posted his second career 100-yard receiving game (112) and caught a TD against the Sooners. Shipley also added a 96-yard kickoff return for a TD, which was the only kickoff return for a TD in Red River Rivalry history, and the third-longest in UT history. Shipley set a UT single-game record with 15 catches against No. 7 Oklahoma State, while posting a career-high 168 yards and a TD. The 15 receptions bettered Roy Williams' mark of 13 against Nebraska in 2002. Against No. 6 Texas Tech, Shipley added six receptions for 42 yards and posted a 45-yard punt return for a TD. He became just the fourth Longhorn to return a kickoff and a punt for a TD during a career.

2007: Shipley notched 27 receptions for 417 yards and five TDs. His 15.4 yards per catch average led the team (20+ receptions). He saw his first action at receiver in 2007 against UCF after suffering from a hamstring injury and notched four receptions for 47 yards. Shipley posted 71 yards, while notching the first multiple TD game of his career, including a 58-yarder, at Iowa State. He added two receptions for 70 yards, including a career-long 60-yarder to set up UT's game-tying score late in the fourth quarter, at Oklahoma State. Shipley posted six receptions in the Holiday Bowl against Arizona State.

2006: Shipley played in all 13 games and caught 16 passes for 229 yards and four TDs. He posted 17 plays of at least 10 yards and averaged 32.3 yards per TD catch. He also produced both a run and a reception of 40 or more yards.

RETURN MAN: In addition to being one of the nation's top receivers, Shipley has become one of the most dangerous return-men as well. With three career punt return TDs and a kickoff return for a TD (96 yards vs. Oklahoma, 2008), Shipley holds the UT record for return TDs with four and is just the fourth Longhorn to return a kickoff and a punt for a TD during a career. In addition, his three career punt return TDs are tied for first on UT's all-time list with Aaron Ross (2003-06) and Jim Moore (1971-73). Shipley has already posted two punt returns for TDs in 2009, making him one of just two players nationally to do so. He posted a 46-yard punt return TD against Texas Tech and a 74-yarder versus Colorado. He currently ranks fourth nationally in punt returns, averaging 18.9 yards per return (14-for-265). Last season, Shipley notched a 45-yard punt return TD at Texas Tech and a 96-yard kickoff return TD versus Oklahoma. For his career, Shipley has returned 20 punts for 329 yards (16.5 ypr) and three TDs, while returning 17 kickoffs for 432 yards (25.4 ypr) and one TD.

ON THE BIG STAGE: Jordan Shipley saved the best game of his career for a Red River Rivalry match-up between two Top Five teams in No. 5 Texas and No. 1 Oklahoma in 2008. He earned Walter Camp Football Foundation National Offensive Player of the Week and AT&T ESPN All-America Player of the Week honors to go along with an ESPN Helmet Sticker for his efforts. Shipley tallied 11 receptions for 112 yards (10.2 ypc) and a TD and returned a kickoff 96 yards for a TD. The 11 receptions are the most for anyone in a Red River

Rivalry game and his 225 all-purpose yards were a career high. On top of that, Shipley became the first player in Red River Rivalry history to return a kickoff for a TD. It was the longest return in the storied rivalry and was the third-longest in UT history.

SHIPLEY'S STRETCH: Jordan Shipley played the best football of his career during Texas' four-game stretch against teams ranked in the Top 11 in 2008. He tallied 40 receptions for 411 yards (10.3 ypc/102.3 ypg) and three TDs. The stretch started when he posted 11 catches for 112 yards and a TD against No. 1 Oklahoma in the Red River Rivalry. He also returned a kickoff 96 yards for a TD in that game to post a career-best 225 all-purpose yards. He followed that by notching eight receptions for 89 yards and a TD versus No. 11 Missouri before tallying career highs with 15 receptions and 168 yards, to go along with another TD, against No. 7 Oklahoma State. Shipley added six catches for 42 yards and returned a punt 45 yards for a TD at No. 6 Texas Tech to become just the fourth Longhorn to return both a kickoff and a punt for a TD during a career. In five games total against teams ranked in the Top 25 in 2008, Shipley posted 50 receptions for 489 yards and three TDs.

SCORING FAST: Jordan Shipley became the fourth player in the Mack Brown era to score on UT's first offensive play from scrimmage in a game. He opened the Iowa State game in 2007 with a 58-yard TD reception to join Jamaal Charles, who scored on a three-yard run on the first play at Missouri in 2005, Cedric Benson, who notched a 38-yard TD run against North Texas in 2004, and Hodges Mitchell, who scored on an 80-yard run at Oklahoma State in 1999.

FRESH FACES: With the departure of Quan Cosby, a trio of young receivers, who all saw action in 2008, have been asked to step up and fill the void. The group of junior James Kirkendoll and sophomores Dan Buckner and Malcolm Williams combined to post 43 receptions for 609 yards and six TDs last season. Already this season, the group has notched 53 catches for 593 yards and five TDs.

James Kirkendoll: Kirkendoll has posted 17 catches for 187 yards and a TD in 2009. He started the season opener against ULM and made two receptions for 19 yards. He posted the first 100-yard receiving game of his career at Wyoming, going for 102 yards on seven catches. He notched a 25-yard TD reception and a career-long 42-yard reception. He added an 11-yard reception against Texas Tech and caught four passes for 30 yards against UTEP. Kirkendoll notched three receptions for 25 yards against Colorado. Last season, Kirkendoll played in all 13 games, making five starts, and caught 21 passes for 221 yards and a TD. Kirkendoll also made one of the most important catches of the season when he converted a fourth down with just 38 seconds left in the game to extend UT's game-winning drive against No. 10 Ohio State in the Fiesta Bowl. He saw action in four games at wide receiver as a true freshman in 2007 before an injury shortened his season. For his career, Kirkendoll has made 38 catches for 408 yards and two TDs in 22 games (10 starts).

Dan Buckner: Buckner has become a focal part of the offense in 2009 after moving from an outside receiver to a flex end position. After five games, he has posted 29 catches for 333 yards (11.5 ypc) and four TDs. His 5.8 receptions per game are tied for 41st nationally and his 66.6 yards per game rank 63rd. Buckner's caught at least five passes in every game this season and posted at least 70 yards in three of the five games. Buckner opened the year against ULM by posting five receptions for 62 yards. He followed that up with career highs in receptions (six) and yards (86), including a 33-yard TD reception, at Wyoming. Buckner added six more receptions for 75 yards and a TD against Texas Tech. He also had six receptions against UTEP to go along with 71 yards and two TDs, the first multi-TD game of his career. Buckner added six more catches for 39 yards against Colorado. Buckner entered the rotation as a true freshman in 2008, posting five catches for 84 yards and two TDs. He made the first catch and first TD reception of his career at UTEP and had a 51-yard TD reception against No. 11 Missouri. For his career, Buckner has caught 34 passes for 417 yards (12.3 ypc) and six TDs.

Malcolm Williams: Williams, who started the first four games of 2008, caught 17 passes for 304 yards and three TDs as a redshirt freshman. His 304 yards rank fifth on UT's single-season freshman list and his three TDs are tied for second. The first big play of Williams' career came against No. 11 Missouri, when he made a leaping grab for a 32-yard TD. Then, at No. 6 Texas Tech, Williams posted 182 yards on four receptions. He notched a 91-yard TD catch and a 37-yard TD reception. The 91-yarder was the fifth-longest reception in UT history and the second-longest by a freshman. His 182 receiving yards rank fifth on UT's single-game chart and are the second-most by a freshman in UT history. So far in 2009, Williams has made seven catches for 73 yards.

CHILES TO WR: The receiving corps has been bolstered by John Chiles' switch from quarterback to receiver. Chiles moved to receiver in the spring of 2009 after spending his first two seasons at quarterback, where he produced 488 yards of total offense (322r/166p) and six TDs (4r/2p) in limited action. Chiles spent time at wide receiver as a prepster and posted 694 receiving yards and eight TDs as a junior before making the full-time switch to quarterback. In his first game at wide receiver at Texas, Chiles caught three passes for 35 yards and a TD against ULM. Then, at Wyoming, Chiles caught five passes for 49 yards, including a 26-yard TD reception. He added three catches for 30 yards and posted a 34-yard run against Texas Tech. Chiles posted four catches for 41 yards against UTEP and five catches for 21 yards against Colorado. For the season, he's got 20 catches for 176 yards and two TDs.

CHILES IN THE BACKFIELD: Despite moving to wide receiver for the 2009 season, junior John Chiles is still occasionally taking snaps from center in the "Wild Horn" formation. Texas unveiled the alignment against Texas Tech in week three, and on the first play, Chiles posted a 34-yard run. Texas used the formation sparingly against UTEP and Colorado and overall, the Horns have run nine plays from the formation, eight runs for 34 yards and an 11-yard reverse pass from Colt McCoy to James Kirkendoll, for 45 total yards (5.0 ypp).

TWO-SPORT STAR: As a prepster, true freshman Marquise Goodwin posted 132 receptions for 1,709 yards and 17 TDs over his three-year career, but he made a name for himself as a track and field standout. Goodwin, the national high school record holder in the long jump with a mark of 26-10, is a two-time World Junior Champion (long jump, 4x100) and seven-time Texas 5A state champion (long jump (3), triple jump (2), 4x100 (2)). Boasting a personal best 10.24 in the 100 meters, Goodwin's leap of 26-4.75 to win the 2009 state long jump championship would have won the Big 12 Championship in that event. Goodwin saw the first action of his career against ULM and made three catches for 39 yards. He added a nine-yard reception at Wyoming and then caught five passes for 36 yards against UTEP. Goodwin added a seven-yard reception against Colorado and blocked the first punt of his career. For the season, Goodwin has posted 10 catches for 91 yards and blocked a punt.

FOUR-BACK ATTACK: With Chris Ogbonnaya playing in the NFL with the St. Louis Rams, Texas returned three running backs with significant game experience from 2008. The group includes junior Vondrell McGee and sophomores Cody Johnson and Foswhitt "Fozzy" Whittaker. That threesome combined to rush for 998 yards and 16 TDs on 228 carries (4.4 ypc) in 2008. A fourth, Tre Newton, joined the mix early this year and earned his first start against UTEP.

Vondrell McGee: For the season, McGee has carried the ball 45 times for 258 yards (5.7 ypc) and two TDs, while making eight receptions for 37 yards. McGee earned the starting nod for UT's season-opening victory over ULM. He tallied 70 yards and a TD on 15 carries. McGee added 61 yards on 11 carries (5.5 ypc) at Wyoming and posted the first 100-yard game of his career when he rushed for 104 yards and a TD on eight carries (13.0 ypc) against UTEP. In 2008, McGee carried the ball 88 times for 376 yards and four TDs, while making nine receptions for 49 yards. He opened the season against FAU by posting 63 yards and a TD on 12 carries (5.2 ypc). He added 58 yards on six carries (9.7 ypc) against No. 11 Missouri and 55 yards on 10 carries versus Baylor. McGee posted 75 carries for 325 yards (4.0 ypc) and eight TDs as a redshirt freshman in 2007. His eight TDs are tied for sixth all-time on UT's freshman list. For his career, McGee has rushed for 931 yards and 14 TDs on 208 carries (4.5 ypc).

Cody Johnson: As a redshirt freshman in 2008, Johnson rushed 76 times for 338 yards and 12 TDs. His 12 TDs tied for first on UT's freshman list with Cedric Benson. Johnson opened 2008 with a streak of seven straight games with a TD, which was snapped against No. 7 Oklahoma State. The streak is a UT freshman record and is tied for fourth on UT's overall list. As UT's goal-line specialist, Johnson converted 10 of his 12 carries inside the five into TDs, including three against No. 1 Oklahoma. Johnson posted the first 100-yard game of his career against Texas A&M with 102 yards and two TDs on eight carries (12.8 ypc). In 2009, Johnson has rushed for 73 yards and five TDs on 24 carries. He opened the year with three rushing TDs against ULM and finished the game with 27 yards on 11 carries. He added another rushing TD against Texas Tech and posted an 18-yard TD run against UTEP. For his career, Johnson's carried the ball 100 times for 411 yards and 17 TDs.

Fozzy Whittaker: Whittaker spent the 2007 season gaining valuable experience on the scout team after finishing his prep career ranked sixth on the all-time Texas 5A rushing chart with 5,717 yards. After missing the 2008 season-opener against FAU with a knee injury, he saw his first action as a Longhorn at UTEP and rushed for 72 yards on 12 carries (6.0 ypc). He added 20 yards on two carries against No. 11 Missouri and 42 yards on six carries at No. 6 Texas Tech. Whittaker earned the first start of his career against Baylor and rushed for 77 yards on 15 carries. On the season, Whittaker posted 284 yards on 64 carries. After missing the first three games of 2009 with a knee injury, Whittaker returned against UTEP and posted 38 yards and a TD on four carries. He scored his first TD of the season against Colorado.

Tre Newton: Redshirt freshman Tre Newton saw the first action of his career late in the 2009 season opener against ULM and carried the ball four times for 28 yards (7.0 ypc). He built on that at Wyoming, rushing for 62 yards and a TD on eight carries (7.8 ypc). He also had a 15-yard reception and averaged 8.6 yards per touch on nine plays. Against Texas Tech, Newton set career highs with 20 carries and 88 yards, while tallying a 19-yard TD run. He added 25 yards and a TD on nine carries against UTEP. For the season, Newton has carried the ball 41 times for 203 yards (5.0 ypc) and three TDs. A three-time all-state selection, Newton, who is the son of former Dallas Cowboy great Nate Newton, is accustomed to running out of the spread. He produced 4,728 yards and 49 TDs on the ground and 784 yards and six TDs receiving in a Southlake Carroll spread offense that went 59-2 and won three state titles with Newton in the backfield.

RECENT O-LINE SUCCESS: The Texas offensive line has been one of the nation's steadiest units over the past five seasons, and despite five linemen moving on to the NFL over the previous three seasons, the Horns rushed for 167.5 ypg and tallied 475.8 ypg (ninth NCAA) in 2008. The pipeline to the NFL over the last four years began with OT Jonathan Scott, who was taken in the fifth round of the 2006 NFL Draft by the Detroit Lions and is now playing with the Buffalo Bills. Then, in the 2007 draft, the Horns had two players, OL Justin Blalock and OG Kasey Studdard, picked. Blalock was selected in the second round by the Atlanta Falcons and has started all 31 games of his professional career, while Studdard was taken in the sixth round by the Houston Texans. In addition, C Lyle Sendlein signed with the Arizona Cardinals as a free agent and has played in 34 career games, starting 22, including all 20 of Arizona's 2008 run to the Super Bowl. Then, in 2008, the Horns dealt with the departure of two seniors from 2007 in OT Tony Hills, a first-team All-America selection who was drafted in the fourth round by the Pittsburgh Steelers, and C Dallas Griffin, who won the Draddy Trophy and was an honorable mention All-Big 12 selection. This season, the Horns will have to make up for the loss of OG Cedric Dockery, who was a second-team All-Big 12 selection and played in 41 career games, starting 30.

VETERAN FRONT: Texas' offensive line, led by four returning starters, including three seniors, returns nearly intact in 2009. That foursome, which has combined to post 106 career starts, is led by a trio of seniors. LT Adam Ulatoski (35 starts) is in his fourth year as a starter while C Chris Hall (28 starts) and LG Charlie Tanner (24 starts) are in their third year as starters. The fourth returning starter on the line, junior RT Kyle Hix (19 starts) is a second-year starter. Junior Michael Huey, who started three games in 2008, earned the start against ULM to open 2009, but missed the Wyoming game with an ankle injury. He returned for the Texas Tech game. Ulatoski has played in 41 career games and is a two-time All-Big 12 selection. After playing right tackle during his first two seasons, he moved to left tackle in 2008 to fill the void caused by Tony Hills' graduation. Hall (36 games) settled in at center for 2008 and started the first 10 games before missing the final two regular-season games with a knee injury. He returned to start the Fiesta Bowl. In 2007, he started at least one game at all five line positions. Tanner, who was tabbed honorable mention All-Big 12 in 2008, has seen action in 36 career games and is a three-time Academic All-Big 12 performer. Hix (31 games) has started the last 19 games at right tackle. He also saw action in all 13 games of 2007 and started at right tackle in UT's Holiday Bowl victory over No. 12 Arizona State. Huey has played in 30 of 31 games during his first three seasons, including all 26 during his first two years.

LINE DEPTH: In addition to the five projected starters, Texas has a group of returnees that have combined to play in 90 games. Juniors OT Tray Allen (25 games), OT Britt Mitchell (30 games) and OG Steve Moore (17 games) will help solidify the offensive line in 2009, while sophomore David Snow returns after playing in all 13 games as a true freshman. Snow started the last two games of the 2008 regular season at center against Kansas and Texas A&M, replacing an injured Chris Hall, and has earned starts in four games this season.

THE GO-TO GUY: Senior Chris Hall entered 2007 as the starting right guard, but the right-guard label was quickly changed to offensive lineman as the versatile Hall became the go-to-guy at all five line positions for a Longhorn line that battled injuries. Hall started the second game of 2007 against No. 19 TCU at left guard before moving in as the starter at right tackle for an injured Adam Ulatoski against UCF and Rice. Hall moved back to left guard against Kansas State, but was back filling injured Ulatoski's shoes at right tackle for the Oklahoma game. Hall continued to plug holes along the offensive line by starting at left guard at Iowa State, right guard at Baylor and left guard against Nebraska before not starting against Oklahoma State due to his own injury. But, when Dallas Griffin sustained a season-ending knee injury in Stillwater, Hall slid over and played most of the game at center. He then started for Griffin at center against Texas Tech before moving to left tackle after Tony Hills sustained a season-ending leg injury. Then, Hall started at left tackle against Texas A&M, which meant he started at least one game at every offensive line position in 2007. In comparison, only three recent linemen have even started at the combination of center/guard or guard/tackle during a season. Justin Blalock started at

ULI: Senior Adam Ulatoski has been a mainstay along the offensive line during his five-year career. After redshirting in 2005, Ulatoski has seen action in 41 of UT's 44 games since 2006, including 35 starts. He earned a starting position at right tackle for the seventh game of 2006 and held that spot for the remainder of the season. In 2007, Ulatoski started nine games at right tackle before making the switch to left tackle for Texas' Holiday Bowl victory over No. 12 Arizona State. He remained at left tackle for the 2008 season, when he started all 13 games. During his career, Ulatoski has earned two All-Big 12 honors, a first-team honor in 2008 and an honorable mention nod in 2007. In addition to his on-field skills, Ulatoski earned his degree in corporate communications in December of 2008 and is now working towards a master's degree in advertising. He has been recognized as an Academic All-Big 12 performer twice and has been a member of UT's Athletics Director's Honor Roll eight times.

PRESSURE AT A PREMIUM: Since 1999, Texas ranks third nationally in sacks at 389 behind USC (399) and TCU (393). Texas led the nation in sacks last season with 47, which was also the most in the Mack Brown era, bettering the 43-sack total in 2000. It marked the first time in school history that Texas led the country in sacks. In addition, the 2008 defense produced 100 TFL, 170 pressures and 129 hits on opponents' quarterbacks. Through five games in 2009, the Horns have registered 16 sacks, 51 TFL, 63 pressures and 81 hits on opponents' quarterbacks.

KINDLE TIME: While splitting time at LB and DE in 2008, senior Sergio Kindle posted 10 sacks en route to honorable mention All-America and first-team All-Big 12 honors. On the heels of that breakout year, Kindle elected to pass on early entry into the NFL Draft to return to Texas and spent the spring focusing on his pass rushing skills from the defensive end position. He'll continue to work at both LB and DE in 2009, but with the departure of DEs Brian Orakpo and Henry Melton, will be counted on to be a focal part of Will Muschamp's Longhorn defense. So far in 2009, Kindle has posted 19 tackles, two sacks, four TFL, 16 pressures, two forced fumbles and a PBU. In UT's season-opening win over ULM, Kindle notched three tackles, a PBU and two pressures. He added five tackles and six pressures at Wyoming. Against Texas Tech, Kindle posted three tackles, a sack, a forced fumble and three pressures, one of which forced Texas Tech QB Taylor Potts into an interception. He added two tackles, a sack and a forced fumble in limited action against UTEP. Kindle notched six tackles, two TFL and four pressures against Colorado. A member of the prestigious Playboy Preseason All-American team, Kindle played in all 13 games in 2008, starting 11. He finished second on the team in sacks with 10 (t-21st NCAA) and TFL with 14 to go along with 15 quarterback pressures. His 53 tackles ranked fifth on the team. Kindle was particularly effective during UT's four-game stretch against Top 11 teams. He tallied 19 tackles, four sacks, one in each game, five TFL and six pressures. Kindle also finished the season strong, posting 3.5 sacks, six TFL and three pressures over the final three games. After playing in 11 games as a true freshman in 2006 and notching 21 tackles and three TFL, he appeared in eight games in 2007, posting 32 tackles, a half sack, four TFL, five pressures and a PBD. For his career, Kindle has played in 37 games (16 starts) and posted 125 tackles, 12.5 sacks, 25 TFL, 36 pressures, four PBU, three forced fumbles and two fumble recoveries.

RETURNING DEFENSIVE ENDS:

Texas has two other veterans at defensive end who have made an impact over their first two seasons in juniors Sam Acho and Eddie Jones. The duo has combined to notch 87 tackles, 12 sacks, 22 TFL, 34 pressures, nine PBD and four fumble recoveries during their three seasons. Acho has seen action in 29 career games (five starts) and tallied 44 tackles, 9.5 sacks, 13 TFL, 16 pressures, six PBD, a forced fumble and four fumble recoveries. In 2009, Acho has notched 18 tackles, five sacks, seven TFL, five pressures, two PBD and four fumble recoveries. The four fumble recoveries rank first nationally and are already tied for third on UT's single-season list. In his first career start against ULM, Acho posted four tackles, a pressure, two PBD and two fumble recoveries. He added five tackles, two sacks, a pressure and a fumble recovery at Wyoming. Against Texas Tech, Acho tallied a tackle and a fumble recovery. He added three tackles, a sack and two pressures against UTEP. Acho notched five tackles, two sacks, four TFL and a pressure against Colorado. Jones, who redshirted in 2006, has appeared in 29 career games and posted 43 tackles, 3.5 sacks, nine TFL, 18 pressures, an INT and three PBD. He has posted seven tackles, a sack, two TFL, eight pressures and a forced fumble in 2009. Against Texas Tech, Jones tallied three tackles, a sack and two pressures. He added a TFL and two pressures against UTEP.

seasons. The Horns finished third in 2008 after allowing 83.5 ypg, sixth in '07 (93.4 ypg) and third in '06 (61.2 ypg). Of the group manning the middle over the last three seasons, three have gone on to the NFL. DTs Frank Okam and Derek Lokey combined to play in 83 games, while making 60 starts during their four-year careers that included '06 and '07. Okam, who was a third-team All-American in '07 before being drafted in the fifth round by the Houston Texans, finished his career with 160 tackles, 10 sacks, 28 TFL, 12 PBD, one forced fumble and five fumble recoveries. Lokey garnered first-team All-Big 12 honors in '07 and earned a spot on the Kansas City Chiefs' practice squad during the 2008 season. He finished his career with 101 tackles, three sacks, 18 TFL, three PBD and a fumble recovery. Roy Miller played a major role on all three defenses prior to being drafted in the third round of the 2009 NFL Draft by the Tampa Bay Buccaneers. Miller finished his career with 138 tackles, 10 sacks, 25 TFL, 44 pressures, six PBD, a forced fumble and a fumble recovery.

NEXT UP AT DT: Next in line to carry on UT's DT tradition is senior Lamarr Houston. After playing his first two seasons at defensive end, Houston made the switch to defensive tackle prior to the 2008 season. For his career, he has tallied 119 tackles, eight sacks, 26 TFL, 51 pressures, 11 PBD, a forced fumble and two fumble recoveries in 41 games (24 starts). Senior Ben Alexander also returns and has played in 29 career games (two starts). In five games in 2009, Alexander has posted 14 tackles, three TFL and a pressure. Sophomore Kheeston Randall, who saw action in eight games as a true freshman, earned the first start of his career against ULM to open 2009 and notched two tackles. He added two tackles and a pressure at Wyoming and three tackles and a pressure against Texas Tech. Randall also had a TFL and a pressure against UTEP. For the season, he has tallied eight tackles, a TFL and four pressures.

HOUSTON'S SECOND YEAR INSIDE: Senior Lamarr Houston spent his first two seasons at Texas as a productive defensive end before making the switch to defensive tackle during the spring of 2008. He went on to post 22 tackles, 1.5 sacks, seven TFL, 11 pressures and five PBD in 12 games (eight starts) despite battling a foot injury for much of the season. Now in his second year at defensive tackle, Houston has notched 17 tackles, a sack, five TFL, 14 pressures, two PBD and two fumble recoveries in 2009. He opened the season by posting four tackles, a TFL and two pressures against ULM. At Wyoming, Houston notched six tackles, a sack, two TFL, five pressures and a PBD. He tallied five tackles, a TFL, two pressures and a fumble recovery against Texas Tech. Houston added a TFL, two pressures and a fumble recovery against UTEP. He notched a tackle, three pressures and a PBD against Colorado. A former prep linebacker and running back, Houston was named honorable mention All-Big 12 by The Associated Press in 2007 at defensive end after tallying 66 tackles, 12 TFL, 4.5 sacks, 24 pressures, four PBD and a forced fumble. After opening the season as a backup, Houston replaced an injured Brian Orakpo in the week two starting lineup and posted six tackles, a sack, a forced fumble and a PBD against No. 19 TCU. He went on to start 11 of the final 12 games. As a true freshman in 2006, Houston saw action at defensive end and on special teams and notched 14 tackles, two TFL and a sack. In total, Houston has posted 119 tackles, eight sacks, 26 TFL, 51 pressures, 11 PBD, a forced fumble and two fumble recoveries in 41 career games (24 starts).

MUCKELROY LEADS THE LINEBACKERS: Senior Roddrick Muckelroy has been one of the most consistent defensive players at Texas over the last three seasons and he's taken his game to another level as a senior. For his career, Muckelroy has tallied 227 tackles (139 solo), 19 TFL, 5.5 sacks, 12 pressures, an INT, nine PBU, three forced fumbles and two fumble recoveries in 33 career games (22 starts). He has posted nine 10-tackle games during his career. After five games in 2009, Muckelroy has tallied 38 tackles, two sacks, six TFL, six pressures and five PBU. He opened the year by notching a team-high seven tackles to go along with two TFL, a pressure and a PBU. He added six tackles and a pressure at Wyoming. Muckelroy had his first 10-tackle game of the season against Texas Tech with 10 stops, a sack, two TFL, two pressures and a PBU. He added three tackles and a PBU against UTEP. Muckelroy posted his second 10-tackle game of 2009 with 12 stops to go along with a sack, two TFL, two pressures and two PBU against Colorado. A second-team All-Big 12 selection in 2008, Muckelroy posted five 10-tackle games and led the team with 112 tackles (71 solo) to go along with four TFL, six pressures, four PBU, a forced fumble and a fumble recovery. His 8.6 tackles per game ranked 50th nationally and fifth in the Big 12 and his 71 solo tackles tied for the 17th-most nationally. Muckelroy earned UT's Most Productive Performer award at UTEP after posting 14 tackles and a pressure, while returning a fumble 26 yards for his first career TD. He set a career high with 16 tackles versus No. 1 Oklahoma to go along with a forced fumble and a PBU. As a redshirt freshman in 2006, Muckelroy earned a starting position and was off to a great start before an injury ended his year. He started the first three games of 2006, posting 10 tackles, three TFL and a sack before sustaining a ruptured tendon in his ring finger, which forced him to miss the rest of the season. Back at full strength in 2007, Muckelroy posted 67 tackles, 2.5 sacks, six TFL, an INT, two forced fumbles and a fumble recovery. He finished the year strong, tallying 29 tackles, 2.5 sacks, five TFL and two forced fumbles over the final four games, including the Holiday Bowl victory over No. 12 Arizona State, when he notched three tackles, a sack, two TFL and a forced fumble in his only start of the season.

HALLSVILLE PRIDE: Longhorn senior WLB Roddrick Muckelroy may be a self-professed small town country kid from the East Texas town of Hallsville (population is about 3,000) but he made big plays on the field in 2008. Including a 14-tackle game in which he returned a fumble 26 yards for a TD at UTEP and a career-high 16 tackles versus No. 1 Oklahoma, Muckelroy led the Horns with 112 tackles (71 solo). His 8.6 tackles per game ranked 50th nationally and fifth in the Big 12 and his 71 solo tackles tied for the 17th-most nationally. Muckelroy has been UT's most productive linebacker over the past three seasons, but even more so over the last 20 games. During that stretch, Texas' hard-hitting linebacker has posted 163 tackles (8.2 tpg), 15 TFL, five sacks, nine PBU, two forced fumbles and a fumble recovery.

YOUNG BACKERS: In addition to the outstanding play of senior Roddrick Muckelroy, Texas has two fresh faces flanking him at linebacker in sophomores Emmanuel Acho and Keenan Robinson. The duo has combined to post 42 tackles (26 solo), a sack, nine TFL, three pressures, two PBU and three forced fumbles. Acho, the younger brother of DE Sam Acho, has posted 20 tackles (16 solo), a sack, eight TFL, three pressures and three forced fumbles. His three forced fumbles are tied for fourth nationally. He started the season by posting three tackles and a forced fumble against ULM. Against Texas Tech, Acho tallied four tackles, two TFL and two forced fumbles. He led the team in tackles with seven against UTEP to go along with a sack, three TFL and two pressures. Acho added five tackles and three TFL against Colorado. For his career, Acho has posted 31 tackles (24 solo), a sack, eight TFL, three pressures and four forced fumbles in 15 games. Robinson has started all five games in 2009 opposite Muckelroy and posted 22 tackles, a TFL and two PBU. He opened the season with three tackles, a TFL and a PBU against ULM. Robinson added five tackles and a PBU at Wyoming before notching six tackles against Texas Tech. He posted six tackles against Colorado. For his career, Robinson has posted 46 tackles (26 solo), a sack, three TFL and three PBU in 17 games (five starts).

81-18: Brothers junior DE Sam Acho (#81) and sophomore LB Emmanuel Acho (#18) have made their mark on the Texas Football program since coming to Austin from Dallas' St. Mark's School. In 2009, the duo has already combined to post 38 tackles (30 solo), six sacks, 15 TFL, eight pressures, three forced fumbles and four fumble recoveries. Sam, the elder of the two, leads the team in sacks (five) and fumble recoveries (four) and is second in TFL (seven) to Emmanuel's eight. Sam's four fumble recoveries lead the nation, while Emmanuel's team-high three forced fumbles are tied for fourth nationally. When the Acho brothers aren't creating havoc on the field, they are providing medical care and Christian ministry to thousands of people in their family's native country of Nigeria. As part of Living Hope Ministries, which was founded and is directed by their father and mother, Dr. Sonny and Christie Acho, the duo has made numerous medical mission trips to Nigeria, including the most recent trip in late May 2009. Dr. Acho, who is a psychologist and Christian minister in Dallas, has arranged annual trips for the last 19 years.

FAMILIAR FACES FOR A CHANGE:

Entering the last two seasons, the Longhorn secondary has had to replace three of its four starters from the previous year. In 2008, the Horns had to replace first-team All-Big 12 performer S Marcus Griffin, second-team All-Big 12 honoree CB Brandon Foster and S Erick Jackson, who started 10 of 13 games, from the 2007 secondary. The year before, Texas needed to replace three players who are currently playing in the NFL in CB Tarell Brown (San Francisco 49ers), S Michael Griffin (Tennessee Titans) and CB Aaron Ross (New York Giants). Brown was a three-year starter, who played in 51 career games. Griffin earned first-team All-America honors from Pro Football Weekly, was a semifinalist for the Lott Trophy (Defensive IMPACT Player of the Year) and finished his career as UT's eighth all-time leading tackler (364 tackles). Ross was a Thorpe Award winner and first-team All-American, who led the team in INTs (six) and PBU (19), while making 80 tackles, as a senior in 2006. In addition, the Horns secondary produced two NFL starters from its 2005 squad in Thorpe Award winner and seventh overall pick S Michael Huff and first-team All-Big 12 performer and second-round NFL Draft pick CB Cedric Griffin. But, in 2009, the secondary returns almost completely intact with the only loss coming in the form of DB Ryan Palmer, who was a two-year starter and second-team All-Big 12 selection in 2008. The Horns have nine members of the secondary returning

Since Duane Akina arrived at Texas in 2001, eight of his nine starting cornerbacks have gone on to play in the NFL. Seven are currently active, while the other, Rod Babers, played for two years with the Detroit Lions. with game experience and six returning with starting experience including senior Deon Beasley (36 games/11 starts), juniors Chykie Brown (29 games/12 starts) and Curtis Brown (31 games/nine starts) and sophomores Nolan Brewster (18 games), Blake Gideon (18 games/18 starts), Earl Thomas (18 games/18 starts), Ben Wells (17 games) and Aaron Williams (18 games/six starts).

Deon Beasley: Senior Deon Beasley has played in 36 career games, starting 11, at cornerback, posting 88 tackles (70 solo), a sack, six TFL, three INTs, 16 PBU, a forced fumble and a fumble recovery. After missing the first two games in 2009, Beasley has played in the last three, primarily on special teams, making four tackles. In 2008, Beasley tallied 40 tackles (27 solo), a sack, three TFL, six PBU and a fumble recovery. He posted a career-high nine tackles at No. 6 Texas Tech and led the team with eight tackles to go along with a TFL, a PBU and a fumble recovery at Kansas. In 2007, he tallied 37 tackles, three TFL, three INTs and nine PBU. His three INTs tied for the team lead, while his nine PBU ranked third. In his only start of the season against Rice, Beasley posted six tackles and two PBU. He capped the regular season by posting seven tackles, a TFL and an INT at Texas A&M.

Chykie Brown: Junior Chykie Brown has seen action in 29 career games, making 12 starts, and tallied 52 tackles (35 solo), a sack, three TFL, 14 PBU and a forced fumble. Through five games in 2009, Brown has posted 13 tackles (nine solo), a TFL, five PBU and a forced fumble. He opened the season by tallying three tackles, a TFL and a forced fumble against ULM. Brown added a tackle and two PBU at Wyoming before posting a career-high seven tackles against Texas Tech. He added a tackle and two PBU against UTEP and a tackle and a PBU versus Colorado. Last year, he posted 28 tackles, a sack, two TFL and nine PBU, which was tied for second on the team, despite being limited in three and a half games due to an ankle injury. As a redshirt freshman in 2007, Brown saw action in all 13 games at cornerback and on special teams.

Curtis Brown: Junior Curtis Brown has played in 31 career games, making nine starts, and posted 64 tackles (48 solo) and 17 PBU. In 2009, Brown has posted 23 tackles (13 solo) and seven PBU. He opened against ULM with five tackles and a PBU and followed that by notching three tackles and three PBU at Wyoming. Brown notched a career high with nine tackles to go along with two PBU against Texas Tech. He added four tackles and a PBU against UTEP and two tackles versus Colorado. In 2008, Brown tallied 27 tackles (24 solo), two pressures and nine PBU. He stepped into the starter's role against No. 7 Oklahoma State when Chykie Brown was injured and posted three tackles and two PBU, while helping to hold one of the nation's leading receivers, Dez Bryant, scoreless and 40 yards below his season average. Also a special-teams standout, Brown tied for second on the team with nine special-teams tackles. He also made a key play in the Red River Rivalry when he chased down OU punter Mike Knall from behind on a fake punt, stopping the Sooners just shy of a first down.

Blake Gideon: Sophomore Blake Gideon has posted 18 tackles (12 solo), two INT and two PBU in 2009. He opened the season by posting four tackles versus ULM. He added eight stops and a PBU at Wyoming and three tackles against Texas Tech. Gideon notched his first career INT against UTEP and then had another one against Colorado to go along with three tackles. A second-team Freshman All-American and honorable mention All-Big 12 selection as a true freshman in 2008, Gideon finished third on the team with 64 tackles (41 solo) to go along with a TFL, eight pressures, seven PBU and a forced fumble. Gideon posted eight tackles and a PBU in his first Red River Rivalry game against No. 1 Oklahoma and added five stops and four pressures in UT's victory over No. 10 Ohio State in the Fiesta Bowl. For his career, Gideon has started all 18 games and tallied 82 tackles (53 solo), a TFL, eight pressures, two INT, nine PBU and a forced fumble.

Earl Thomas: Sophomore Earl Thomas, a 2009 preseason second-team All-Big 12 selection, has posted 20 tackles (13 solo), four INTs, one of which was returned for a TD, and six PBU in 2009. His 10 passes defended rank third nationally and his four INTs are tied for the second-most. He opened the season by notching three tackles and two PBU versus ULM before tallying two tackles and two PBU at Wyoming. Thomas matched his career high with 10 tackles to go along with an INT and two PBU against Texas Tech. He had the second two-INT game of his career against UTEP. Thomas added a four tackles and returned an INT 92 yards for a TD against Colorado. The 92-yard INT return is tied for the second longest in UT history and is UT's longest INT return since 1936. A first-team Freshman All-American in 2008, Thomas started all 13 games as a redshirt freshman. He finished second on the team with 72 tackles (51 solo) to go along with three TFL, two INTs, 17 PBU (No. 1 on UT's freshman list) and four forced fumbles in 2008. In the first start of his career against FAU, Thomas posted five tackles, two PBU, a forced fumble and blocked a punt that led to a Texas TD. In his first Red River Rivalry against No. 1 Oklahoma, Thomas notched three tackles, two INTs, two PBU and a forced fumble. He had the first double-digit tackle performance of his career at No. 6 Texas Tech, posting 10 tackles and two PBU. For his career, Thomas has started all 18 games and posted 92 tackles (64 solo), three TFL, six INTs, 23 PBU and four forced fumbles.

Aaron Williams: Sophomore Aaron Williams earned a starting position in 2009 and has posted 22 tackles (11 solo), three TFL, a pressure, two PBU and two forced fumbles. He opened the season against ULM with two tackles and added four stops, a TFL, a PBU and a forced fumble at Wyoming. Against Texas Tech, Williams tallied nine tackles, two TFL, a PBU and a forced fumble. He added four tackles against UTEP and three tackles and a pressure versus Colorado. Williams saw action in all 13 games, starting one, as a true freshman in 2008. He posted 16 tackles, a TFL, an INT, three PBU, a forced fumble and a fumble recovery. Williams returned his interception 81 yards for a TD against Arkansas. The 81-yard return is the seventh-longest INT return in UT history. In addition to his play in the secondary, Williams also was a special-teams standout. He blocked four punts, which tied for first on UT's single-season list, and tied for second on the team with nine special-teams tackles. For his career, Williams has tallied 38 tackles (20 solo), four TFL, a pressure, an INT, five PBU, three forced fumbles and a fumble recovery.

SPECIAL START: Speedy redshirt freshman D.J. Monroe has only played in five career games, but he's already entered his name into UT's record book. He joined a group of nine other Longhorns who have returned kickoffs for TDs when he returned a kickoff 89 yards for a score on his first career touch against ULM. Then, in week four against UTEP, Monroe, who was the 2006 Texas 4A State 100-meter Champion, brought another kickoff back 91 yards for a TD to become the first Longhorn in school history to post two kickoff return TDs. For the season, Monroe, who has clocked a personal-best 10.08 100 meters, has returned six kickoffs for 309 yards (51.5 ypr/second NCAA) and two TDs. In addition to his special-teams work, Monroe has carried the ball 16 times for 85 yards as a running back, giving him 394 all-purpose yards (98.5 ypg) on 22 plays (17.9 ypp) this season.

BLOCK THAT KICK: The Texas special teams have been just that since Mack Brown took over the program in 1998. Since then, Texas has blocked 65 kicks (37 punts/16 FGs/12 PATs), an average of 5.7 per season. That is 39 more than the 25 recorded in the 12-year span prior to Brown's arrival. UT has blocked the second-most kicks in the nation since 2002 with 43 behind Fresno St. (47). So far in 2009, the Horns have blocked two punts. Since Brown arrived, the Longhorns have had players set or equal UT records for career blocked kicks, single-season blocked kicks, career blocked punts and single-season blocked punts.

RETURN GAME: Texas has improved its kick returning and defending on kickoffs and punts since Mack Brown arrived. Since 1998, the Horns have produced 11 of UT's 24 all-time punt returns for TDs and six of the 11 kickoff returns for TDs. In contrast, UT has only given up three punt return TDs during the Mack Brown era. It had been 101 games (Kansas State, 1999) since Texas had given up a punt return for a TD before Kansas State returned one in 2007. That is a major difference from the 12 years prior to Brown's arrival. During that time, Texas scored on four punt returns, while its opponents scored on seven returns. When Brown arrived in 1998, Texas hadn't returned a kickoff for a score since 1978. Then, in the 2000 Holiday Bowl, Victor Ike returned a kickoff 93 yards for a TD, snapping the 265-game streak. Selvin Young added a 97-yard kickoff return TD against New Mexico State in 2003, Quan Cosby posted a 91-yard kickoff return TD at Texas A&M in 2007 and Jordan Shipley notched a 96-yard kickoff return TD versus Oklahoma in 2008. D.J. Monroe has already returned two kickoffs for TDs in 2009, an 89-yarder against ULM and a 91-yarder versus UTEP. He is the first player in Texas history to notch two kickoff return TDs in a career. With a punt return for a TD against Colorado, Jordan Shipley tied UT's all-time mark for career punt returns with three. When you add in his 96-yard kickoff return for a TD against Oklahoma in 2008, Shipley set the UT career record for return TDs with four. Texas' four return TDs (two punt/two kickoff) in 2009 are a school record. The Longhorns had two apiece in 1973, 2002, '05, '06 and '08.

PLACE-KICKS: Since 1998, four of Texas' most accurate field goal kickers (Kris Stockton, 1996, '98-2000, Dusty Mangum, 2001-04, Ryan Bailey, 2006-present and Hunter Lawrence 2006-present) have come during Brown's time at Texas. Bailey (25-of-30/.833) and Stockton (58-of-77/.753) rank first and second, respectively, on UT's field-goal accuracy chart (min. 25 attempts), while Lawrence is 19-of-23 (.826) during his career. Mangum (121), Lawrence (76), Bailey (60) and Stockton (57) also are at the top of UT's consecutive made extra points list.

LAWRENCE HANDLING PLACE-KICKING: After serving as UT's kickoff specialist during his first two seasons, senior Hunter Lawrence, who is on the Lou Groza Award watch list, has handled the place-kicking duties over the last two seasons. In 2009, Lawrence is 9-of-11 on FG attempts and 25-of-26 on PATs. He missed his second PAT attempt against UTEP halting his streak of made PATs at 76, which ranks second on UT's all-time list. Lawrence's 10.4 points per game (52 total points) are tied for 11th nationally and his 1.8 made field goals per game (nine total) are tied for 12th. He opened 2009 against ULM by going 6-of-6 on PATs, while converting a 32-yard field goal. He added five more PATs and two field goals (29, 32) at Wyoming and four PATs and two FGs

(43, 33) against Texas Tech. Lawrence made 5-of-6 PATs against UTEP and went 3-of-4 on FGs with the only miss coming on a 54-yard attempt that hit the crossbar to end the first half. Lawrence went 1-of-2 on FG attempts against Colorado, making a 32-yard attempt and having the other blocked, while adding five PATs. A second-team All-Big 12 selection last season, Lawrence was perfect on PATs, going 60-for-60, and made 10-of-12 field-goal attempts, including 4-of-5 from at least 40 yards, for 90 points. After his performance against No. 1 Oklahoma, Lawrence was named the Lou Groza Star of the Week for posting a career-high 13 points after making all three of his field-goal attempts (26, 28 and 33) and all four PATs. Adding depth to the kicking game is senior Ryan Bailey, who handled the place-kicking duties for half of 2006 and the '07 season. In 2007, Bailey went 58-of-59 on PATs and 18-of-22 on FGs, including 8-of-10 from over 40 yards. A former walk-on who earned a scholarship in 2007, Bailey took over the place-kicking duties at No. 17 Nebraska in 2006, attempting and making the first field goal of his career, a 22-yarder, late in the game to give Texas a 22-20 victory. He went on to finish that season going 6-of-6 on FGs and 17-of-18 on PATs. The duo has combined to hit 176-of-179 PATs and 44-of-52 FGs, including 14-of-17 from over 40 yards, over the last four seasons.

IMMEDIATE IMPACT: Ten true freshmen, Eryon Barnett, Marcus Davis, Garrett Gilbert, Marquise Goodwin, Calvin Howell, Barrett Matthews, Tevin Mims, Alex Okafor, Kenny Vaccaro and Mason Walters, have seen action for Texas in 2009. Mack Brown has played 103 of a possible 276 true freshmen (37.3%) in his 12 seasons at Texas.

TEXAS BY THE NUMBERS

- 0: The number of first downs Texas gave up in the second quarter at Wyoming.
- 1: Senior QB Colt McCoy ranks first all-time at UT in completion percentage (70.6%) and passer rating (156.8).
- 1: Texas leads the nation in rush defense (46.2 ypg), after ranking third in 2008 (83.5 ypg), sixth in 2007 (93.4 ypg) and third in 2006 (61.2 ypg).
- 4: Jordan Shipley is one of just four Longhorns (Raymond Clayborn, 1973-76; Selvin Young, 2002-06; Quan Cosby, 2005-08) who have recorded a kickoff and punt return for a TD during their careers.
- 5: Texas is just one of two schools nationally that has won five consecutive bowl games. The five straight bowl wins also is a UT first.
- 5: The number of victories Colt McCoy needs to match the NCAA record for all-time victories held by Georgia's David Greene (42).
- 6: Texas leads the nation with six Top Five NFL Draft picks over the last nine years.
- 7: The number of active Longhorns in the NFL who have played in a Pro Bowl.
- 8: Eight Longhorns have been drafted in the Top 10 of the NFL Draft in the last nine years, the most of any school in the nation.
- 8: Since Duane Akina arrived in 2001, eight of his nine starting cornerbacks have gone on to play in the NFL.
- 9: Texas is the only school in the nation to both start and finish the season ranked in the Top 15 for each of the last nine seasons.
- 10: With 11 catches against Texas Tech, 10 against UTEP and 11 versus Colorado, Jordan Shipley is the first Longhorn in school history to post three consecutive games with double-digit receptions.
- 10: Texas has won at least 10 games in each of the last eight seasons, becoming just the third team in college football history to accomplish the feat.
- 11: The Longhorns extended their UT record with their 11th consecutive bowl berth in 2008.
- 13: Including his time at North Carolina, Brown is the lone coach nationally to have won at least nine games in each of the past 13 seasons.
- 15: Colt McCoy is the 15th player in NCAA history to amass 12,000 yards of total offense. He now ranks 13th all-time with 12,161 total yards.
- 17: Texas has won 17 of its last 20 games against ranked opponents.
- 18: Colt McCoy completed 18 consecutive passes in the 28-24 victory over Oklahoma State in 2008, breaking his own single-game school record for consecutive completions. He now holds nine of the 13 consecutive pass completion marks.
- 19: Texas has been ranked in the AP Top 5 for 19 consecutive weeks. The 19 weeks is the longest streak in the nation and the fourth longest streak in school history.
- 22: For the third consecutive year, Texas led the conference with 22 Academic All-Big 12 selections in 2008, including 17 first-teamers.
- 37: Texas had 37 players named to last spring's Athletics Director's Honor Roll (3.0 GPA).
- 41: In 12 seasons under Mack Brown, Texas' offense has produced 41 games with 500 or more total yards of offense. UT had accomplished that only 23 times in the 105 years prior to his arrival.
- 42: There are currently 42 Longhorns active in the NFL, which is tied for the most nationally and easily leads the Big 12.
- 43: Texas has produced 43 All-Americans, including seven unanimous selections, during Mack Brown's tenure.
- 44: Colt McCoy currently holds 44 school records, including 14 career, 12 single-season, five single-game, six freshman and seven miscellaneous marks.
- 46: The Longhorns have won 46-of-52 games against teams from the state of Texas under Mack Brown.
- 53: The Texas defense surrendered just 53 total yards to UTEP, the fewest allowed by a Texas defense since it allowed 37 yards to Southwestern in 1941 and the fewest yards gained in Miners' history.
- 57: The Texas football team has played in front of a sellout crowd for 57 consecutive home games.
- 63: Texas has won 63-of-68 home games (92.6%) under Mack Brown.
- 64: Texas has blocked 64 kicks in 12 seasons under Mack Brown, an average of about six per season.
- 69: UT has scored 69 non-offensive TDs since 1999, which ranks third nationally.
- 76.7: Colt McCoy set the NCAA record for completion percentage at 76.7% in 2008, bettering Daunte Culpepper's mark of 73.6%.
- 82: Texas' 82 wins in Big 12 play are the most of any team in the conference. Oklahoma is second with 76.
- 101.7: The average daily high in Austin during August when the Horns were going through fall camp. So far in 2009, Austin has had 68 days of over 100-degree temperatures, which is just one day shy of the all-time record of 69 set in 1925.
- 103: Mack Brown has played 103 true freshmen in his 11 years at Texas.
- 117: The Longhorns have spent 117 weeks in The AP Top 10 and finished the year ranked in the Top 10 six times during the Mack Brown era. Texas, which had not finished a year ranked among the Top 10 since 1983 prior to Brown's arrival, spent just 16 weeks rated among the nation's Top 10 in the 11 years before Brown took over.
- 120: Mack Brown's 120 wins at Texas are the second-most in school history, trailing only Darrell Royal's 167. The 120 wins are also the most in the nation since 1998.
- 148: Texas has now been ranked in The AP Top 25 for a Longhorn record 148 straight weeks. It's the longest active streak in the nation.
- 176: The Longhorns have been ranked among the USA Today Coaches Poll Top 25 for 176 straight weeks dating back to late in the 1998 season. The 176 consecutive weeks leads the nation and is the longest UT streak in any poll.
- 180: The number of receiving yards Jordan Shipley had in the season opener against ULM. It is the most receiving yards ever in an opener by a Texas player.
- 200: Mack Brown is just the 19th coach, who has spent at least 10 years at an FBS program, to win 200 games. He has now won 206 for his career.
- 215: During Mack Brown's 11 years at Texas, the Horns have set 215 school records.
- 551: Points scored in 2008, the second most in school history behind 652 points scored in 2005.
- 586: Texas set a school record by outgaining UTEP by 586 yards. Texas accumulated 639 yards of total offense, the sixth most in school history, while allowing only 53 yards, the fewest amount in Miners' history.
- 837: With 837 victories in the program's history, Texas ranks second on the all-time victories list behind only Michigan.
- 84,100: The number of season tickets sold for the 2009 season, a UT best.
- 100,119: New stadium capacity for Darrell K Royal-Texas Memorial Stadium/Joe Jamail Field.
- 24,000,000: Each Texas home game adds an estimated economic impact of $24 million to Austin's economy according to AngelouEconomics.

SPANISH LANGUAGE BROADCAST

The Longhorns Sports Network will also offer a Spanish Language Radio broadcast of all Texas Football games. The games will be broadcast on a statewide network (Flagship: HITZ 107.7 FM) and on the web at www.univision.com.

USE OF AUDIO/VIDEO IN COVERAGE

Any media entity collecting "video or audio materials" (film, traditional video or audio, digital video or audio, photos, etc.) from University of Texas Athletics events (games, practices, post-practice/post-game interviews and press conferences) may use that material only for traditional television newscasts, Web-based or print coverage, or other electronic transmission as approved by The University in writing, with a limitation of up to three (3) minutes in length from any single event. Its usage also must be used only as supporting video/audio for a reported story and not simply as rebroadcasted/streamed highlights or interview sessions. Such media entity may not offer any live video, audio or other coverage of the event (or tape-delay rebroadcast coverage in its entirety) without the advance, written permission of The University of Texas Athletics Department.

POSTGAME

The Longhorns' locker room is closed. Interview requests should be given to Assistant AD for Media Relations John Bianco. Requested players will be brought to the Moncrief-Neuhaas Athletics Complex meeting rooms following home contests and to a designated interview area at road games. NO INTERVIEWS ARE TO BE CONDUCTED ON THE FIELD FOLLOWING THE GAME. After a NCAA required and team-enforced 10-minute cooling off period, players and coaches will be escorted to the interview area. Failure to abide by this rule will result in termination of credential.

POST-PRACTICE AVAILABILITY

Practices are closed to the public and media. Players and assistant coaches are available by request after Tuesday's practice and head coach Mack Brown is available prior to Wednesday's practice to wrap up the week. Your requests should be given to Assistant AD for Media Relations John Bianco. All post-practice interviews are done at the Moncrief-Neuhaas Athletics Complex.

PHONE

Phone interviews with Longhorns players and assistant coaches should be requested at least 24 hours in advance through Assistant AD for Media Relations John Bianco (office: 512/471-1346/cell: 512/748-9315). Based on their schedules, the call will either be made following practice or at an assigned time. The last chance for player/assistant coach interviews is after Tuesday's practice. Phone interviews with head coach Mack Brown should be requested at least 24 hours in advance through Bill Little (office: 512/471-6062/cell: 512/748-9316).
